As men of the National Guard of Minnesota moved into three towns to keep order in the violence-ridden packinghouse strike, this half-track rumbled through the streets in South St. Paul to disperse pickets. Guardsmen arrested the three strikers blocking the car at left when they failed to obey orders to clear the street.

Canada's World War II Ace Beurling Killed In Crash

ROME (CP)—A Canadian flier identified by Jewish refugee circles as George (Buzz) Beurling of Montreal, Canada's No. 1 fighter ace of the Second World War, was killed today in a plane crash at Urbe airfield.

The plane, one of three en route to aid the Jewish cause in Palestine, crashed and burned during a trial flight around the airfield.

Rome police confirmed that the name of the dead pilot was George Beurling. The 26-year-old Montreal ace compiled a record of 31 enemy planes shot down in the Second World War while fighting with the R.A.F. and the R.C.A.F.

TEST PILOT LOSES LIFE

Also killed in the flaming crash of the light two-engine plane was a British test pilot.

Beurling, who asked little of life but action and adventure, was known to have been on his way to the Middle East to take part in the present fighting between Jews and Arabs for control of Palestine.

FATHER INFORMED

(In Montreal, Beurling's father expressed belief there was little doubt his son had died. "My son told me some time ago he was heading that way (to Palestine)," said Fred Beurling.

The other man killed in the crash was Leonard J. Cohen, who carried a British passport and flying license.

BUILT IN CANADA

The plane, a Norseman type built in Canada as a light transport, had a United States registry number. It arrived at Urbe field from the United Kingdom two days ago with two other planes being ferried to Palestine for use as ambulance aircraft.

C. M. Schuller, Swiss newspaper man who witnessed the crash, said he had talked with Beurling before the flight. He said the pilot had told him he was flying to Palestine "for fun" before going next week to Switzerland for a vacation.

The two other planes "with which the Norseman flew from Britain landed safely and took off after refuelling.

The Norseman, used extensively during the war by the British, Canadian and United States air forces, is a single-engine five-passenger monoplane. It now is widely used by Canadian bush pilots.

Flt. Lt. Beurling visited Victoria in March 5, 1943, in the course of a tour of Canada, during which he saw the chief stations of the R.C.A.F.

At another time he suffered an arm injury and a shake up in an airplane crash at Gibraltar in which 12 passengers were killed. He was on his way home to Canada at the time.

Spring Floods Hit Yukon, Alaska; Roads, Bridges Give Way

WINNIPEG (CP)—Spring floods which have plagued western Canada for the last month are extending their baneful influence into the Yukon and Alaska.

Army engineers are working 1,200 miles northwest of Edmonton to rebuild a bridge—washed out by a flood May 16—which has closed the Alaska Highway at Mile 683. The bridge spans the lower Rancheria River between Watson Lake and Whitehorse, Y.T. The flood swept away eight sections of its 15 spans. The engineers hope to have the highway reopened to traffic May 26.

The only cheering word came from Alberta's Rossington district, where the situation was reported better, at least for the time being. The Pembina River is expected to rise further within about 10 days because of mountain run-off.

The Tanana and Chena Rivers pose a threat to Fairbanks, Alaska, where basements of riverside cabins and business premises already are flooded.

Approximately 160 farm families are quartered in The Pas, and the Manitoba division of the Red Cross reported it had authorized the expenditure of $500 for the benefit of flood victims and sent materials to assist them.

Breaks in dikes south of Marquette, in southern Manitoba have prevented flood waters from receding, and at Meadows the outlook still is cheerless. British Columbia, alone of the areas affected, reported general improvement.

Henderson Freed In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Henderson, 38, acquitted Wednesday night of a charge of murder, was today freed from police custody.

A charge of unlawful possession of an offensive weapon, laid 20 minutes after his acquittal by a B.C. Supreme Court jury, was withdrawn today in city police court.

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer ordered the withdrawal, saying no further charge should be laid against the youth.

"Henderson was charged with murder. The family has been through enough agitation," said Mr. Wismer.

Henderson had been charged with the Feb. 26, 1947, gun-slaying of Vancouver Police Constable Charles Boyes.

Sales Tax Office For Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. V. Fisher, British Columbia's Deputy Minister of Finance, said here an office will soon be opened in Vancouver to deal with problems arising from the province's new 3 per cent sales tax levy.

He said regulations are being compiled for all types of cases to make the operation of the tax clear to businessmen who will be revenue collectors.

Bevin Asks Reds To Stop War In Greece, Gets Party Backing

SCARBOROUGH, Yorkshire, Eng. (CP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin said today the Communist countries of eastern Europe are fostering the civil war in Greece, and appealed to them to stop it.

Without mentioning Russia in this connection, he told the British Labor Party's annual conference that "one lift of a finger from a place you know would stop it tonight."

Bevin opposed "any steps to carry on aggressive war against Soviet Russia or any other country." He spoke for 50 minutes without a mention of the Middle East situation.

The party, brushing aside recent left-wing Labor attacks, adopted by a 17 to 1 ratio a resolution approving the government's domestic and foreign policies. The card vote was 4,970,000 to 224,000.

Subsequently a resolution backing Bevin and the Marshall Plan went through on a show of hands. Some 800,000 votes were withheld. It was believed the bulk of the abstentions came from the Amalgamated Engineering Union, which has been critical of some aspects of foreign policy.

QUOTES ST. LAURENT

Bevin in his speech gave strong approval to a recent speech by Canada's External Affairs Minister, Louis St. Laurent, who said special regional responsibilities assumed by the Commonwealth countries had not weakened their general and close association.

"I do not believe war is inevitable," Bevin told the party. "The danger of where a war is likely to arise is the war of nerves, which the Russians can stop," he said.

Bevin recalled the recent air battle in Berlin where a British transport and Russian fighter collided, the killing of a British officer on the Yugoslav frontier and the embargo on Allied shipping into Berlin.

"If we had not been very, very cool, trouble might have ensued" after the airplane incident, in which 15 persons were killed.

U.S.-Soviet Peace Dicker Hardening Into Deadlock

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The peace exchange between Russia and the United States appears today to be hardening into the same kind of deadlock that has blocked progress on all other issues involving the two great powers.

Moscow's latest declaration—a Tass news agency dispatch evidently reflecting official Soviet views—represents the Soviet Union as standing firm that any negotiations undertaken should be on a two-power basis, covering a range of subjects from atomic energy to human rights.

WANT WIDER BASIS

By contrast, State Secretary Marshall has made clear here that any settlements which Russia is prepared to reach on major issues must be sought through the United Nations, the Council of Foreign Ministers or other international agencies which have been grappling with these issues for the last two years.

U.S. officials are inclining more and more to the attitude Russia is embarked on a "cynical attempt" to build up world hopes for more peaceful relations between east and west. Actually, he maintains, the Soviet Union is unwilling to make the practical compromises essential to real improvements.

There still is speculation here, however, that the State Department may yet send another note on the situation to the Kremlin.

The purpose of this action would be to ask Foreign Minister Molotov what specific proposals his government has in mind for settling outstanding

This will apply to letters weighing one ounce or less. It means that letters carrying a 4-cent stamp for surface mail will be carried by air to any part of Canada, providing the letter thus is speeded up. The new service will be on an experimental basis until it is determined it is financially sound.

He conferred this afternoon with high officials of the two major railroads. He is expected to meet officers of the railway unions next Tuesday.

No Hawaii State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Senate today virtually killed all chances for Hawaiian statehood this year. It refused 51 to 20 to take the House-approved bill to admit Hawaii as the 49th state away from the Senate interior and insular affairs committee. The committee has kept the bill bottled up since last year.

Barkley Keynoter

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Democratic leaders today selected Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky as keynoter for their July 12 national convention. Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas was named permanent chairman.

Senator J. Howard McGrath, Democratic National chairman, said the selections were not aimed at appeasing the southern block opposed to President Truman's civil rights program.

Legion Strikes Deep In Modern City; Cuts Lines

WITHIN THE OLD CITY IN JERUSALEM (AP)—Arabs expect a decision today or tomorrow in the bitter battle for Jerusalem, a high Arab official said.

King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan Arab Legion and Arab volunteers were fighting Israel's Hagana army and the Jewish Irgun Zvai Leumi and Stern Gang inside and outside the old city's walls.

Inside, the Legion, more than halfway through the southern Jewish quarter, bombarded a small Hagana garrison sporadically for 15 hours Wednesday. Outside, Arab forces cleared away nearly all Jews to the north, east and south and struck deep into modern Jerusalem to the west.

The Arab official estimated the Jews' strength in Jerusalem at 8,000, but only 400 were said to be holding out in the old city. He did not give the number of Arab fighters.

COMMISSION FAILS

A United States-Belgian-French commission acting for the United Nations tried in vain again Wednesday to work out a truce to cover all Jerusalem and protect Christian, Jewish and Moslem shrines in the old city.

Arab and Jewish representatives talked peace terms—once more, but broke off negotiations after an hour.

Arab conditions were reported to call for delivery of:

All arms; all fighters, as prisoners of war; the slightly wounded to Arab-protected hospitals, to become prisoners upon recovery; the severely wounded to the International Red Cross; women and children to the Red Cross (the estimated perhaps 200

State Of Emergency In Israel

TEL AVIV (AP)—Jewish army headquarters announced today "heavy shelling by the Arab Legion on the Hadassah hospital and the Hebrew University was heard in the late hours of the night" in Jerusalem.

The report followed Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's decree that a state of emergency exists in Israel.

The decree was read by Ben-Gurion at Wednesday night's session of the provisional parliament. It empowers each minister in the new state to order emergency regulations necessary for Israel's security.

Parliament also authorized the government to organize land, air and sea forces, thus creating a legal base for transforming Hagana, the Jewish militia, into the official regular army.

SIXTH BOMBING

Egyptian planes bombed Tel Aviv this morning for the sixth straight day. Two persons were injured.

Mayor Israel Rokach asked the United States, Russia and the United Nations to stop Egypt from bombing the city.

In one of Wednesday's attacks planes bombed the city with explosives heavier than the 50-pound missiles used the previous day.

(The Egyptian defence ministry in Cairo said planes bombed docks, depots and the Tel Aviv airport.)

Jewish sources reported in Haifa that Samakh, at the base of the Sea of Galilee was partly in Jewish hands again following a strong counter-attack Wednesday night by Hagana militiamen.

On Tuesday the Syrian army said it had occupied the town, less than five miles from the Syrian border inside Palestine.

Eagles Sponsor Blind Baby Fund

Victoria Aerie No. 12, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today announced it would sponsor the Bourne Blind Baby Fund, spontaneously created in Victoria in the hopes of giving sight to seven-month-old Peter Bourne, blind twin boy of an R.C.N. sailor, Electrician 3rd Class and Mrs. Norman Bourne of Esquimalt.

In the meantime the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is standing by to advise the Bourne family and is now trying to arrange a consultation between the local eye specialist handling the case and a Vancouver specialist. Present opinion indicates that a local operation on Peter's eye may be possible.

Britain Developing Jet Planes For Commerce; Set Altitude Mark

LONDON (CP)—British science, inventor of jet propulsion in the heat of war, now is speeding a vast research program to develop this new-found technology to the growing needs of peace.

The program embraces propulsion and power development on land and sea as well as in the air. It envisages jet propulsion as filling the "gap" between the internal combustion engine and development of atomic energy which science believes will take from 10 to 25 years to emerge as a power source.

BUILDING AIRLINER

A 500-mile-an-hour jet-propelled trans-Atlantic airliner now is under construction in Britain and many flying trials are going on with newly-designed jet-propelled aircraft. Scientists of the state-controlled Power Jets Research and Development Ltd. foresee gas turbine engines providing lower-cost power for locomotives, ships and industry.

Recently aeronautical history was made at Wisley airfield, Surrey, with test-flight of the world's first all-jet airliner, a Vickers Viking powered by two "Nene" jet engines. The flight lasted 20 minutes and was "uneventful."

ABOVE ALL OTHERS

At Hatfield the De Havilland Company is pressing development of the "Ghost" jet engine. One Ghost-powered Lancasterian, an airliner version of the bomber, has been test-flying for a year and high-flying trials are being conducted in a Ghost-engined Vampire which recently set a world altitude record of almost 60,000 feet.

Britain also is experimenting in combinations of jet propulsion and new fuselage design, especially with futuristic "flying wing" types.

6 Months' Trial Of Price Mention In Radio Advertising

MONTREAL (CP) — The CBC board of governors announced today that it will lift the ban on price-mentions on the air Sept. 1 for a six-month trial period.

At Wednesday's meeting, two chambers of commerce, Victoria, B.C., and St. Catharines, Ont., sent in communications expressing full approval of price-mention.

Dr. Augustin Frigon, CBC general manager, said there was nothing wrong in the principle of price-mention and although the CBC was not particular about it for the CBC's own stations, it would fall in line with any relaxation of the ban.

2 Youths Rescued From Drifting Craft

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jev Colhill, 19, of North Vancouver, and John Morfitt, 17, of Vancouver, were rescued Thursday night from a drifting motorboat by a craft from H.M.C.S. Discovery.

Harry Roberts of Vancouver, signal station attendant on the Lions' Gate Bridge, spotted the boat after its engine had failed. He notified the naval station, which sent out a small rescue craft. The power boat was located a mile beyond the bridge, drifting out to the open sea.

Canada May Deport 2nd Mine Unionist

OTTAWA (CP)—Deportation to the United States of George Knott, companion union organizer to Reid Robinson, can be expected within a few days, a high government official said Wednesday.

The official said this was in line with government policy to rid Canadian labor unions of alien Communists.

Knott, a United States citizen and an organizer of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.U.M.S.W.), was picked up by police at Sudbury, Ont., Wednesday.

The government officer said that unless Knott appealed to courts and thereby delayed deportation action, he would be escorted across the border within the next few days.

The government move followed a precedent established with the deportation of Reid Robinson May 5. Robinson is the eastern Canadian president of the mine union.

The immigration department acted under a clause of the Immigration Act, never used, which gives it power to deport persons belonging to an organization advocating the overthrow of governments by force.

Winnipeg Calling For More Revenue

WINNIPEG (CP)—The city of Winnipeg today asked the Manitoba government for financial readjustments which would provide almost $2,000,000 in extra revenue for the city's current budget.

The requests were contained in a brief prepared and presented by H. Carl Goldenberg of Montreal, special counsel for the city, who met with Premier Stuart Garson and the cabinet.

Mr. Goldenberg said the province is in a position to relieve Winnipeg's burdens now and that any delay until an "ideal Dominion-provincial structure is erected" would be unjustified.

Woolworth Managers Elect Jury Trials

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eight store managers of F. W. Woolworth's Ltd. Thursday elected jury trial on a charge of conspiring to interfere with formation of a labor union.

A former salesgirl, Dorothy May Richardson, testified in city police court that she was offered a raise in pay if she did not have anything to do with an "outside organization."

She said the offer was made to her Feb. 21 by William D. Christensen, store manager.

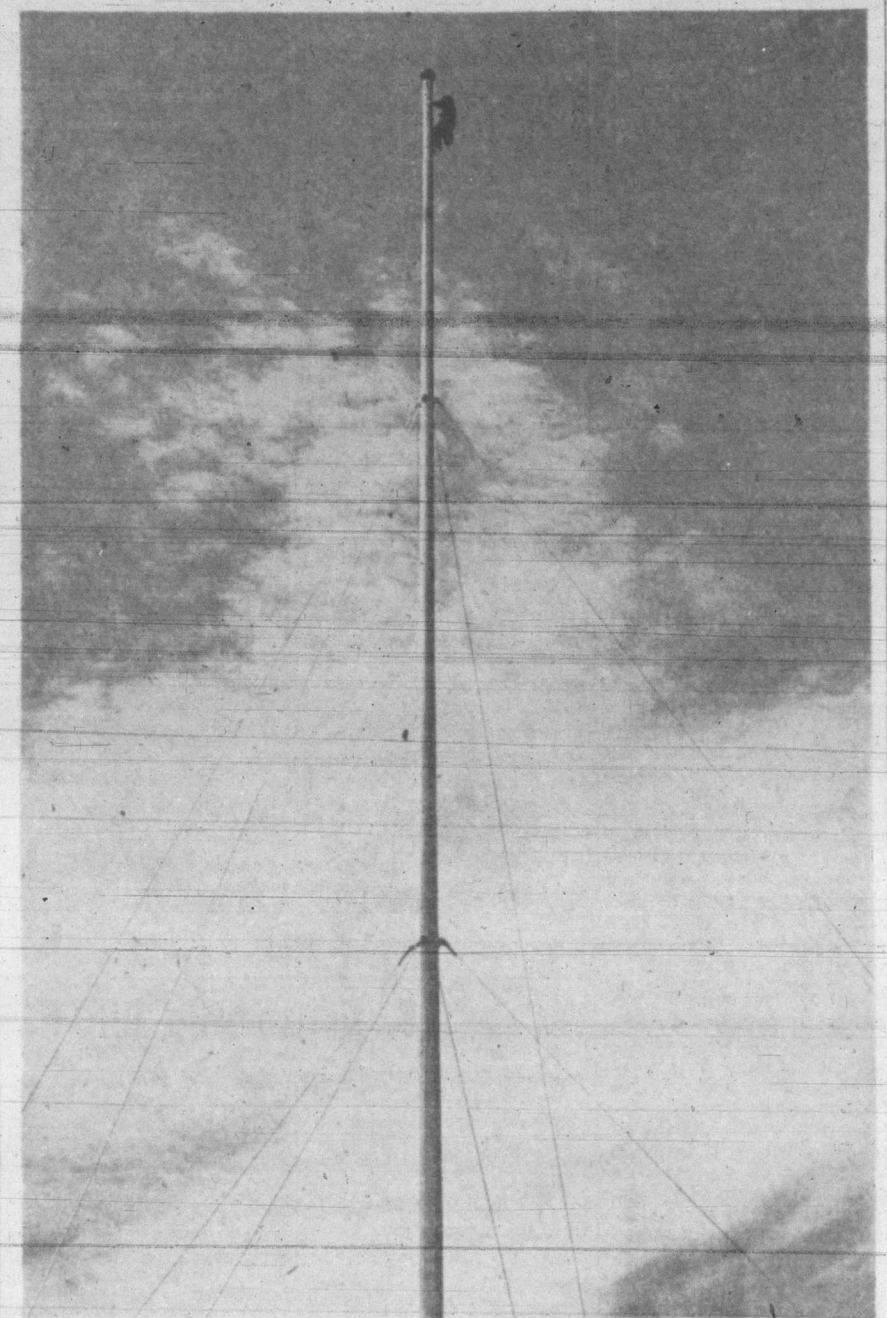

"He told me if I didn't play ball, my raise would be taken away," she said.

The union involved is the Retail Clerks' International Association.

Shark Had Eaten Man

Painter At Work In The Wide Blue Yonder

With the aid of a bosun's chair, a couple of gallons of white paint, and a lot of nerve, steeplejack A. E. Moseley makes the 152-foot Beacon Hill Park flagpole shipshape in time for May 29 celebrations.

Waterfront walkers Wednesday thought Beacon Hill Park's tall flagpole was sprouting branches—or something—but on closer inspection found steeplejack A. E. Moseley giving the mast a spring cleaning.

The 152-foot mast is being painted and the halyards repaired by the local painter who has been waiting for good weather to do the job.

Parks superintendent Herb Warren said the pole is undergoing usual maintenance. "We try and have it painted every two years," he said.

Moseley also is repairing the halyards which broke about six months ago and a special 12 by 24 foot flag, donated to the city some years ago by former Alderman John Worthington, will fly from the spar for the May celebrations this week-end.

The tall Douglas Fir from which the pole was shaped was donated to the city about 10 years ago by Mayo Singh, East Indian lumberman of Kapoor. Mayo also erected the pole which is one of the tallest in the country.

K. Of P. Delegates Hear Chief Speak

The menace of Communism to the North American way of life was stressed by Frank Sheppard, Imperial Prince of the Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorasan, associate order of the Knights of Pythias, in an address Wednesday night to delegates from all parts of B.C. who now are in Victoria attending the 47th session of the K. of P. Grand Lodge.

Mr. Sheppard, who is international head of all K. of P. lodges, said Pythians could do much to do away with the menace.

"We want Pythianism in place of Communism," he declared. Mayor Percy E. George extended a welcome to delegates. Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Stanley Edwards, who sang two numbers accompanied by Cyril Warren.

Other visiting K. of P. officials attending the session besides Mr. Sheppard, who comes from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, are William F. Bannan, past grand chancellor of Alberta; Stanley Edwards, past grand chancellor of Saskatchewan and Raymond D. Green of Ellensburg, who is grand chancellor of Washington State.

A fine of $40 and one-month license suspension was handed Eric Turner in city police court yesterday by Magistrate H. C. Hall when he was convicted on a charge of dangerous driving at Vancouver Street and Rockland Avenue May 11. He was in collision with a car driven by Mrs. Helen M. Ker. The impact threw the accused's car over and it skidded for 72 feet in that direction. There were no personal injuries.

Beurling Not Just 'Screwball'; Was Perfectionist In Flying Art

(Following is a Canadian Press sketch of Flt.-Lieut. George "Buzz" Beurling, who was killed in an air crash at Rome today. For report of crash see front page.)

By CANADIAN PRESS

George (Buzz) Beurling asked little of life but action and adventure. He carved for himself a restless, high-pitched existence highlighted by his meteoric rise to fame as Canada's top fighter ace of the Second World War.

But as he tasted action, he had to have more. And the routine tempo of peace brought none of the satisfaction Buzz Beurling craved so deeply.

It got so that flying—spine-tingling, daredevil flying—was almost all he wanted. At 26, he had enjoyed a lifetime's share of it. But he had to have more.

In Toronto, recently, the still-boyish Beurling told friends: "I would be glad to get back into combat."

PHOTOGRAPHIC MEMORY

He talked of his wartime experiences in aerial combat and his tanned face shone. He could recall every detail of the countless dogfights over Malta.

The young man who watched 31 enemy planes plunge to destruction under the fire of his guns said quietly of the future: "I will drop bombs or fire guns for anyone who will pay me."

The matter-of-fact remark, as much as any other he ever made, was the key to Buzz Beurling.

He was a "lone wolf," a young man so schooled in the wild, tingling sounds and sights and smells of war that he could not shake the burning desire for more.

He gave in to it—indeed, he never really fought against it—and went to his death.

But Buzz Beurling's friends will say his death was pretty well the kind he would have chosen. Flying was his life; flying seemed destined to be his death.

'PERFECTIONIST'

There was more to Beurling, however, than just sheer youthful drive and exuberance. He was a perfectionist.

In his early teens he ran the streets of Verdun, Que., with model planes "buzzing" until he won his famous nickname. Then he washed down air taxes at Cartierville, on Montreal Island. After many attempts and three Atlantic crossings in cattle ships he was finally accepted by the R.A.F.

Known as "Buzz" and "Screwball" to his R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. buddies, Beurling was awarded the D.S.O., D.F.C., D.F.M. and Bar for his heroic work.

In the defence of Malta, he flew with the R.A.F.'s highest-scoring Spitfire squadron led by Sqdn. Ldr. "Timber" Woods of Vancouver, B.C. during the summer of 1942, when Malta was putting up a valiant defence against the enemy, the famous squadron was so heavily manned by Canadians that its few British pilots were nicknamed "the free Englishmen."

The final wartime official compilation showed that Beurling ranked fourth as "Ace of Aces" among the Allied fighter pilots who fought over Europe. Ahead of him were the names of such fliers as J. E. (Johnny) Johnson of Britain, No. 1 Allied ace with 38 planes to his credit; and A. G. (Sailor) Malan of South Africa and Paddy Finucane, each with 32.

The cool-eyed blonde Beurling was an unorthodox type from the start and was described by persons who didn't understand him as a "show-off."

This "show-off," though, had read flying exploits and aerial tactics when his schoolmates were reading boyish adventure tales.

When he did get into the air, he had confidence in the knowledge of his perfection as pilot and marksman. He never had any doubts about the ability of Buzz Beurling.

A pickpocket who lifted the wallet from the hip pocket of L. Reid, 2825 Cook St., at the Crescent Shows, Blanshard Street, Wednesday afternoon, drew a blank. Mr. Reid's wallet contained no money, just a driver's license and business cards, he reported to Constable John Birch.

BURDEN ON THE WEST

THE INTIMIDATION BY AGRICULTURE

Minister James Gardiner in a speech in Vancouver last night that the Liberal Government intends to revise the freight rate schedule so as to remove the existing mountain differential will be cheering news to the people of the three western provinces. Briefly, the differential embodies a system of railway freight rates whereby there is a higher charge on goods transported through the Rockies, based on greater construction, maintenance and operating costs in those regions. The rate originally was set at double the prairie rate, but successive actions of the Board of Transport Commissioners over the years have reduced this to one and a quarter times the prairie rate.

The three western provinces have long protested this "discrimination" in freight rates, arguing that the heavier impost places a burden on western industry and unduly raises the cost of living in the west. Such areas in British Columbia as Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria are not as much affected by the mountain differential as interior communities, because special rates have been set for coastal points to meet the lower freight costs of ocean transport. But in the central part of the province the mountain differential is fully operative, and its adverse effect on general business conditions in British Columbia is felt throughout the whole economy.

The argument is that one part of Canada, even by reason of geographical position, should not be placed at a disadvantage in comparison to other parts, namely the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, where short hauls, large quantities and truck competition combine to set a low rate. The disparity of the differential was highlighted by the recent granting of a 21 per cent rate increase to the transcontinental lines. In the east, the increase is based on the existing low rates. In the west, it has a cumulative effect in increasing the previous disparity.

Action to ease this situation—and Mr. Gardiner hints that the differential "will be removed by the present Liberal Government"—would represent the culmination of a long fight by the western partners in Confederation. And no one in these times has done more to advocate such a step than Mr. R. W. Mayhew, whose recent speech in the House of Commons summarized the scope of his efforts. The member for Victoria urged speedy action in revision of the rates, since each additional day prolongs a situation that demands improvement. He opposes the creation of a special commission to examine the question, since all the necessary facts, as well as competent experts, may be found in the existing Board of Transport Commissioners. And he calls for equality in rates for goods moving east with those for freight moving west. Implementation of these proposals would remove an imposition on the economy of the west. There has been no general revision of freight rates since 1919, and it cannot be argued that conditions have not changed sufficiently to warrant a review.

NARROW PARTISANSHIP

WHEN WE DESCRIBED MR. ABBOTT'S budget as a "politically courageous" one we meant just that. Whether the Minister of Finance intended his refusal to cut the personal income tax as an intimation that no general election might be expected this year, or whether—which is our view—he had made up his mind to keep sufficient funds available for any emergency, no useful purpose will be served by those who are permitting their political bias to stifle their better judgment. So far the general editorial reaction is one of commendation, qualified, of course, by the natural disappointment that the average wage cheque will still be "tapped" at the source on the existing basis. Take this extract from the morning paper's discussion of Mr. Abbott's statement:

It (the government) continues a wartime scale of taxation which remains one of the highest in the world. Finally, "surpluses" which are taken out of the public's pocket are not surpluses at all; whether they are $670,000,000 as of last year or $480,000,000 so indefinitely pledged to debt redemption this year. Viewed in its times, the federal budget is merely another tax grab, a spurious tightening of the public's belt to make a showing next year. It is noticeable that the government does not tighten their own, and that the civil pay list is higher again.

Just what is meant by the last sentence in the above we do not know. Who is the government if not the people? And how does the Colonist reconcile its insistent demands for tax reduction—for projects or measures the immediate satisfaction of which would require many more millions than Mr. Abbott's "little bit" for the "rainy day" and unpredictable contingencies—with its implied suggestion that the national debt may go hang? Our contemporary, however, is unique in its political rigidity and its obtuse economics. In contrast, incidentally, is the comment of the Vancouver Daily Province—by no stretch of the imagination "bullish" where the King administration is concerned—which says in part:

The tax relief may not be great, but it is in the direction of settling down the cost of living, and for that Mr. Abbott must be given credit. The minister must be given credit, too, for standing staunchly by his plan of curbing budgetary excesses, budgeting means budgeting for a period of years, not merely for 12 months. It means keeping taxes up when times are good and using the surplus to reduce debt. It means reducing taxes, providing work and relief and perhaps even supporting business when times are bad. It means taking thought for tomorrow. It means also, in difficult and dangerous times, like those of today, having a margin of safety which can be used, if need be, for defence. The minister made out a good case for his plan to fight inflation and for his cyclical budget.

It is pleasant for us to note that the mainland daily has voiced sentiments almost identical with those to which we gave expression in these columns yesterday. Apart from the Province's impartial analysis of Mr. Abbott's economic technique, its obvious desire to lift important national financial considerations from the sordid realm of partisanship, the Vancouver paper renders the public good service when it places especial stress on the desirability of reducing the nation's debt and, at the same time, leaving something in the public till to meet such exigencies as may arise in these unpredictable times.

QUIT SHADOW BOXING

COMMUNISTS GENERALLY WERE free with their charges, particularly after the results had been released, that the United States took an undue part in the Italian elections of last month. Little was said, by eastern European sources, about Russian support of the Communist candidates, although it was obvious that the Kremlin was taking a more than passive interest in the political contest in the Mediterranean "boot." This week's developments make it equally obvious that Moscow is determined to put a spoon into the United States political pot and give a vigorous stir for the benefit of presidential candidate Henry Wallace.

This is a legitimate conclusion to be drawn from the action of Premier Stalin in coming forward at this time—in the midst of the preliminary jockeying for the honor of residing in the White House—to single out the policies of Mr. Wallace for favorable mention as a basis for discussions on international peace. Many whose greatest hope and prayer is for the maintenance of peace, and who view with growing fears the warlike trend of current developments, may be inclined to reason that if Mr. Wallace can get along with the Politburo to the extent of avoiding war, then he must be the man best fitted to take the high office of Chief Executive of the United States and to direct the foreign policy of that great nation. That in itself may be fair enough reasoning—if one has no regard for the price that may be paid for peace.

The intent behind Premier Stalin's championing of Mr. Wallace, whose leftist tendencies and Communist following have been the distinguishing marks of the Third Party movement, become clear when we examine the Wallace "proposals" which occasioned the Kremlin announcement. In an open letter to the head of the U.S.S.R., Mr. Wallace advocated armament reduction, prohibition of atomic weapons, conclusion of peace treaties with Germany and Japan, evacuation of troops from these countries as well as China and Korea, respect for the sovereignty of individual countries, development of world trade, economic assistance to nations which suffered by reason of the war, and defence of democracy and civil rights.

It would be hard to name one of these points which has not already been the subject of earnest consideration in the United Nations Assembly or its various subdivisions, and equally difficult to pick one which has not been hampered, stalemated or defeated by Soviet Russian recalcitrance in the face of agreement by almost every other free nation of the earth. Armaments, atomic weapons, world trade, peace treaties, military occupation, defence of civil rights—all these questions have been talked into the ground at numerous conferences since the close of World War II. When Premier Stalin comes out with praise for Mr. Wallace for suggesting that such subjects be talked over some more as a basis for peaceful settlement of East-West disputes, one must be pardoned for hesitating to take the Moscow reaction at its face value. The conference rooms for discussion of these topics—under United Nations auspices—are still waiting with open doors for any Russian delegate who has something more to offer than dogged use of the veto. One is reluctant to decry anything that has even the appearance of a move toward peaceful solution of world problems, but intelligence must still be accorded a place in the selection of the most likely avenue leading to that desirable end.

RECORD BREAKERS

DURING RECENT DAYS SWIMMING stars of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. have been breaking Canadian records in a way to command national attention. Apart from the ever-present desire on the part of athletes to establish new marks, the purpose of the assault on existing standards has been to impress other sections of Canada, particularly the east, with the calibre of performers available in this city for the team which will carry the Maple Leaf to the Olympic Games in London this summer.

The general and particular motives of the time trials are laudable. The success with which they have been conducted, moreover, lends added interest to a sport in which all the young people in a seaside city should be proficient. The athletes of the Flying Y are performing a multiple service. They are bringing the city desirable publicity. They are showing the Dominion that Victoria can boast aquatic performers equal to any in the country. And they are stimulating enthusiasm for one of the most beneficial body-building sports in existence. Their rewards should be attendance at the Olympic trials and, for those successful in those tests, participation in the London Games.

Critical E.R.P. Year

By PETER EDSON from Washington

PAUL HOFFMAN has been Economic Cooperation Administrator for a month. He has performed no miracles in that time. If, as a result, Congress and the American people begin to lose interest in Marshall Plan operations, that's bad.

Hoffman's first month has been spent in recruiting. He has had to build a $6,000,000 organization from the top down. Jobs could have been filled with punks in a hurry. But getting $50,000-a-year men to take jobs paying $15,000 a year is hard.

AT THE END of the fourth week, however, Hoffman feels he has nearly all his key jobs filled. Howard Bruce is his deputy. Wayne C. Taylor as director of operations. Averell Harriman is roving ambassador in Europe, William C. Foster director of missions.

It may be July before Administrator Hoffman can announce any action on recovery projects, which is the important part of his job. The relief part of the program is an old story. The U.S. has been feeding people ever since the war was over. Shipping out a million bushels of wheat is no longer news. It doesn't have the front page thrill it once had.

NO ONE IS more aware of this than Hoffman. That's why he is banking heavily on Ambassador Harriman's first quick trip to Europe. He is to be gone about 10 days. In that time it is hoped he can look over whatever specific plans O.E.C.—the International Office of European Economic Cooperation—may have.

There is a suspicion it may not have very many. But if Ambassador Harriman can find 10 or 20 good projects sure of contributing to recovery, he can bring them back to Washington and say, "Here's something we can go ahead on." Hoffman can then begin to function constructively.

HE BELIEVES IT important that the European recovery organization stay in Europe. Most countries want to send missions to Washington to throw their weight around. Hoffman is fighting that off. Their job is over there, not over here.

It is a job for all western Europe, not separate countries. There is a pretty-well-founded suspicion that the first estimates made by the 16 European nations' experts on a country-by-country basis are not very realistic. Many of the projects they have counted on will have to be cut down or cut out.

Hoffman offers a hypothetical example. If Belgium and France both want to build new bicycle factories near each other, one or the other should be dropped. There is no sense in duplication. That is why the program must be kept flexible. But this idea may be difficult to sell to congressional appropriation committees.

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE to plan every detail a full year ahead. Some of the plans that look promising on paper may be found to yield small results. Others that look no good at the start may show surprising results. When they do it will be necessary to shift funds from bad projects to those that pay off.

For instance, one of the big items even after the original Paris conference estimates were scaled down by the Harriman Committee and State Department was for $60,000,000 worth of freight cars from the U.S.

KNOWING HOW SCARCE freight cars were in the U.S. and how long it would take to get deliveries, Administrator Hoffman wondered why the Europeans couldn't use trucks. He discovered that it was against the laws of most countries to have trucks cross national boundaries. The solution for that one, in Hoffman's mind, is not to order more freight cars but to tear down European trade barriers so that motor transport can roll internationally.

European resistance to this kind of thinking is bound to be heavy. For instance, Belgium particularly, and France to a lesser degree, have tremendously improved their positions by revaluing their currencies. Other countries in Europe are resisting such a move, though it would be for their own good.

ANOTHER OBSTACLE BEING encountered is an attitude, found among some British pessimists, that the recovery program isn't going to work. They say that at the end of four years, if all goes well, Europe will be about where it is today. The problem will then be what to do next.

The answer to that one is that this isn't any four-year program. It is now a one-year program. If it doesn't show results in the first year, there isn't going to be any more money. The quicker Europeans realize that, the better off they'll be. In the meantime, Mr. Hoffman deserves a full year in which to show results.

At Least A Little Progress

U.S. Censorship Bill Has Dangers

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

DURING THE WAR, the American press operated under purely voluntary censorship, even though some of its members possessed information that was vital to the nation's security and the success of its armed forces.

IN TIME OF PEACE

Now, in time of peace, the House Rules Committee has approved a proposal to impose censorship on certain information, and to punish a reporter who violates that censorship with a $1,000 fine and a year's imprisonment. The author of this piece of legislation is Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan.

The censorship provision is part of a bill which grew out of the charges against Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the National Bureau of Standards. The Thomas Committee wanted a letter from F.B.I. Chief J. Edgar Hoover pertaining to Dr. Condon's loyalty investigation. President Truman refused the request.

The bill would permit a congressional committee to demand any confidential information by a majority vote of its members, countersigned by the Speaker of the House or the President of the Senate. At the same time, a majority vote could classify any information a committee possessed as confidential.

This is both unwise and unrealistic. The custom of "leaking" information to the press from closed sessions of committees or conferences is not only old and accepted, but generally valuable. For example, the public was kept informed through "leaks" of the progress of some of the Dumbarton Oaks and San Francisco Conference meetings that produced the United Nations. And the Yalta agreement on the veto in the yet unborn U.N. was also made public through a "leak."

As for Congress itself, a disclosure of progress in the private hearings on a bill can be valuable to the members as well as to the public. A running summary of "confidential" proceedings in the press lets the committee members know the public reaction to what they are doing. This gives them some idea of the sources of support, trends of opposition, and so on, that they would not otherwise have until the bill was delivered from its vacuum of secrecy.

But, most of all, this bill of Mr. Hoffman's, if passed, would set a dangerous precedent of concealment that is out of place in a democracy. Every Congress, unfortunately, seems to have its share of stupid, bigoted, and "kept" members. This power of censorship would apply to them, if enough were on one committee to exercise it, as well as to the responsible statesmen.

The members of Congress are elected by the people to make laws for the conduct of the people's government. They are engaged in the public business and, with few exceptions, should operate publicly. When their activities in time of peace concern the national security—as perhaps in the field of atomic energy—we think that the press can be trusted to safeguard that security.

SHORT WORK

"The press," says Mr. Hoffman, "has no all-inclusive right and privilege of disclosing information that is detrimental to the country." It might be answered that Congress has no all-inclusive right and privilege to withhold information from the country at the caprice of some of its members.

We trust that the whole House will make short work of Mr. Hoffman's would-be legal sanction of further secrecy and irresponsibility in government.

Preparing For Tomorrows

By JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

THE cloth buyer, returned from the Old Land, was speaking of the scarcity of English and Scottish cloth. "When it was available," he said, "it often lacked its former quality, and even then it was too seldom available."

"Is that another thing to lay at the door of a Socialist government?" he was asked.

"It depends," he answered, "on whom you ask. There are people who will tell you that the mill owners have adopted a 'won't play' attitude, because they can't play their way. The owners themselves say that the cause is worn-out machines that they have no money to replace. You have to take your choice between the two. I can hardly believe that the owners would be so cruelly, so criminally short-sighted. A lost reputation for quality is something you don't quickly recover, and lost markets are equally difficult. The English businessman is keenly alive to this fact. He also knows that a breakdown in his own administrative practices is the perfect justification for socialism.

HEAVIEST LOSER

"It would be idle to argue that a man who sees every dollar of profit taken from him, might have an underlying sense that there was no purpose in investing huge sums, that must be borrowed on adverse terms, that more profits might be made to be attached by government. That might be a natural reaction, but not one that a shrewd and far-sighted businessman would permit himself. He is so obviously the first and heaviest loser. Remember too that machines were exploited dangerously during the war years, doing often four years work in one. I have seen them actually tied up with wire. It was not to make profits for shareholders but to provide a country's needs."

Here is where labor's prejudice against setting up funds for reserves and depreciation shows its short-sightedness. Business is going out the window because there are no funds to restore a beggared plant. Such reserves would have assured both the quality and the productivity that, in turn, are a protection against fear—the fear of lost markets and lost capital and lost jobs that are the inevitable results of machines that are kept together with wire.

Flies Die Like Flies

IN MOSCOW, Idaho, there is no longer a market for flyswatters. Last year many residents left windows uncurtained all summer; restaurants did away with fly-papers and propped open their screen doors. By September flies were so scarce that entomologists at the University of Idaho were unable to trap a single fly for research experiments.

DDT spray and good sanitary practice have brought this flyless bliss to Moscow, says Gertrude E. Arundel in "The Reader's Digest for June. Many other communities, applying similar treatment, are enjoying relief from the pest which has plagued mankind since the dawn of history. Miss Arundel's article is condensed from Science News Letter.

Fire-truck pumps, rigged with tanks of DDT, have sprayed hotels, restaurants, streets, office buildings, barns, manure piles and public dumps to take the fly nuisance and fly-borne disease menace out of summer life in communities from Mackinac Island, Michigan, to Columbus, Georgia. The latter town has announced a 90 per cent reduction in its fly population, at a cost of 30 cents per inhabitant, and a sharp decline in dysentery among children. In Evansville, Indiana, the health officer reports fly mortality as 999 out of 1,000. Iowa is launching its third annual "No Flies in Iowa" campaign, with demonstration centres to train local committees in fly-killing techniques. Mason

City, Iowa (population 60,000), enjoyed a fly-free summer last year at a cost of $2,500.

On farms, spectacular results in extra meat and milk production have been obtained by spraying cattle with DDT. Agricultural experts checking sprayed and unsprayed herds, report gains up to 25 per cent in the milk yields of dairy cows and similar increases in the weights of beef cattle.

The article warns that DDT must be used with caution. Spraying in restaurants or stores should not be done near open food. Feed troughs on farms should be covered while DDT is sprayed. Promiscuous treatment of crops and fields may poison birds and honeybees and thus disturb the balance of nature.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

FROM the sturdy land of Highlands and purple heather, where folk r-r-roll their r's and r-r-remember the Sabbath, comes word that the Scottish Association of The Lord's Day Observance Society has sent Prime Minister Attlee a telegram recording in part:

"We feel constrained to express our profound regret that the itinerary arranged for Their Royal Highnesses, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh (Prince Philip), while on their official visit to Paris, included attendance at racing, theatre and night club dancing during The Lord's Day."

STAUNCH STAND

Well, whether we agree with this rebuke, or feel that it's a wee bit austere, there are many people who will find it encouraging to encounter such a staunch stand for religion, especially in the face of the world-wide Communist drive to deprive humanity of a god.

Of course, probably nobody claims that the charming lady, who one day likely will be queen, and her husband committed any terrible sin by their activities on Sunday. However, members of the Royal Family do have a mighty influence on the habits of the rank and file, and must expect criticism at times. For Royalty isn't immune from the afflictions of ordinary man, as witness that Princess Margaret, sister of the Heirless Presumptive to the Throne, is suffering with measles.

The Scots as a whole are intensely religious, as I have observed during many visits to the land of my paternal ancestors. The Sabbath is a day for worship and contemplation. Scots who believe in the old-time religion have no place for sports or recreation on Sunday. Many even frown on whistling as too frivolous.

PLENTY HERE

Still, we don't have to go so far afield as the British Isles to find religious zeal. There's plenty of it right here in the United States and Canada—throughout most of the world, for that matter.

As a matter of fact that Communist effort to kill religion, as the "dope of the masses," undoubtedly has reacted against the Reds. Religious folk have been stimulated to battle for their beliefs.

Possibly this has had something to do with the exceptionally strong move of the Scottish association regarding the activities of Elizabeth and Philip in Paris on the Sabbath.

PUBLIC EDUCATOR

London (Ont.) Free Press

Today's teacher stands, not so much in the place of the parent, as in the place of the community educator. It is better that way than to wait until the policeman has to step into the picture at a later date when something more drastic than the woodshed is the only remedy.

The atomic age has brought humanity to fateful crossroads. If atomic energy is used in peace, the peoples of the world may enter an era of unprecedented prosperity and well-being. ### MONSTROUS FALLACY

Toronto Globe and Mail

At a political meeting in Toronto a woman speaker asked: "Which party can give our families the most?" She happened to be a Progressive Conservative and she received from someone in the audience the unexpected answer, "the C.C.F.," but it might just as well have happened the other way around. What the incident goes to show is that no party in our country is free from the current delusion that governments can "give" something for nothing and that the government which "gives the most" is the best. This is a monstrous fallacy and the results of its full-scale practical application are the suffocation of enterprise, the inflation of living costs and the decay of liberty.

Gonzales Hill Cairn Stays Put, Oak Bay Decides

Victoria section of the B.C. Historical Association Wednesday evening successfully defended the site of the Gonzales Hill cairn against a Dominion government suggestion to Oak Bay council that the historic marker be moved elsewhere.

Earlier, Oak Bay council, on receiving the Ottawa suggestion, had referred the matter to the association for its opinion.

In a letter to the council, Willard E. Ireland, honorary secretary of the Victoria section of the association, said a meeting of the section had unanimously decided in favor of retention of the present site.

"While it is recognized that there are certain difficulties in-involved in the maintenance of the present location, it was felt that the site itself, as well as the marker was of historic significance, for after all it was designed to commemorate the many explorers involved in the discovery of the Straits of Juan de Fuca, and to remove it to some other location where the magnificent sweep of the straits would not be in view would lessen considerably its historic significance," Mr. Ireland wrote.

"In addition to the tablet erected by the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada there is a second tablet erected by the B.C. Historical Association commemorating the activity of other navigators in the straits.

"We also feel that the site itself is well worth the expense involved in its maintenance, for there are few places in Greater Victoria from which a better panoramic view of the area can be obtained."

The councillors agreed the cairn should stay where it is.

Oak Bay To Check Complaints Of Damage By Buses

Oak Bay Council's transportation committee will investigate complaints that heavy buses on some Oak Bay streets are causing damage to houses.

The matter was brought to a head by a letter from Mrs. E. Anne Protheroe, 2621 Musgrave Street, who complained that the vibration of passing buses was, among other things, lifting the floors of her house and causing the walls to bulge out. Plaster on her neighbors' walls was cracking, she added.

Some of the councillors expressed their doubts that the buses could be causing this damage, but Councillor G. Ellis said cracks had been appearing in his walls. "It's the big jobs they have on there that shake things up," he said.

Building Inspector Thomas Watt told the council he had received similar complaints from some residents along a number of streets.

Oak Bay To Discuss Protest Against 'Crime Comic' Sales

Oak Bay Council will meet with a representative of the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council to discuss action against certain classes of crime comic books now being sold in the area.

In a letter to the council Wednesday evening, the P.T.C. protested against sale of the books, saying they made crime seem attractive and ridiculed law and order. The demoralizing effects on young minds of contents of some of these books was also stressed.

Councillor George Murdock said he had attended a meeting of the P.T.C. where some of the books were shown and he was "horribly beyond words" to see the types of books which were being published. He believed everything possible should be done to suppress these books.

Oak Bay Council Against Proposed Ship Convention

Oak Bay Council Wednesday evening turned thumbs down on a proposal that the 1948 convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities be held aboard Ss. Princess Kathleen on a round trip between Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

About the only one who showed any signs of favoring the trip was Reeve R. A. B. Wootton, but then, as he explained with a smile, "I'm nuts about the sea."

Councillor George Murdock expressed concern that delegates who had not made the trip before might be too busy viewing the scenery to attend meetings, but Councillor Percy Moir said he thought the delegates would be a little more diligent than that.

Councillor J. V. Johnson expressed his doubts that the trip would come off. Already a lot of B.C. towns "have been raising Cain" over the suggestion, he said.

Willows Stables Reported Clean

A favorable report on the condition of the racing stables at the Willows was received by Oak Bay council Wednesday evening from the municipal health officer, Dr. W. P. Walker.

On investigation of the stables, the health officer said, he found three men were sleeping in stables which had been converted into clean quarters. He reported other stables were also in clean conditions.

Cripps May Visit Ottawa This Year To Talk Finance

LONDON (CP)—A treasury spokesman said Wednesday night Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, hopes to visit Ottawa.

The spokesman described as "premature and incorrect" reports that Sir Stafford would visit Canada this month, but said it was hoped the visit could be arranged for later in the year.

The London Daily Express said it was possible that Food Minister Strachey would accompany the Chancellor for discussions on the renewal of Britain's long-term wheat contract.

The News Chronicle forecast that the visit will be made "in the next few weeks to negotiate long-term financial arrangements." It added Sir Stafford also would likely go to Washington.

It said that Sir Stafford's aims would be to decide the general lines of Britain's future food trade contracts with Canada and arrange what proportion would be paid for under the Marshall

The paper said a tentative agreement with Canada likely would be made before the British cabinet comes to a final decision on the import program for the remainder of 1948.

Saskatchewan Electors To Pass Judgment On C.C.F. June 24

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan's electors will pass judgment June 24 on the merits of socialism—exemplified by the province's C.C.F. government—as compared with free enterprise, represented by the old-line parties.

Premier T. C. Douglas, energetic head of Canada's only Socialist administration, Wednesday night set at rest long-standing rumors regarding the impending election by announcing its date in an address over a provincial CBC network.

The 43-year-old premier's announcement made Saskatchewan's the third provincial election called in Canada for this summer. Ontario will vote June 7; New Brunswick, June 28.

The C.C.F. was swept to power in Saskatchewan in 1944. It holds 47 seats in the legislature. The House has five Liberal members and three Active Service representatives, but the Active Service representation will end with the dissolution of the present legislature.

THREE BY-ELECTIONS The C.C.F. administration has won all three by-elections held since it took office. The forthcoming election will represent the first time in Canadian history that a Socialist government has placed four years of its policies before the electors.

Liberals have nominated 45 candidates for seats. The government has nominated candidates in all but five, the Social Credit Party in 32 and Progressive Conservatives in 10.

One Labor Progressive Party candidate, William Berezowski, is standing in Pelly constituency. His party has pledged support to the C.C.F., which has said it does not want it.

The Social Credit Party, led by Dr. J. N. Haldeman, bearded Regina chiropractor, is bidding strongly for support, and repeatedly has asked that the election be postponed until the fall, on the ground that only fear of Social Credit opposition on the part of the C.C.F. and Liberals has led to the setting of a June date.

In eight constituencies the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives have formed coalitions, both formally and informally, but in each the co-operating parties are preserving their separate identities.

Mr. Douglas said that before

No Provision For Visit To Victoria In Truman Itinerary

An Associated Press report from Seattle says no provision for a visit to Victoria has been made in the tentative itinerary issued Wednesday of President Truman's scheduled visit to the Pacific Northwest next month.

Mayor Percy George recently invited the President to come here during his stay in Washington and Governor Wallgren of that state answered that he was sure Mr. Truman would like to call at Victoria and that everything possible would be done to make the visit possible.

The President is scheduled to make an address in Seattle June 10 according to the Seattle Times' Washington correspondent. No other details of his itinerary, other than the fact that he apparently does not plan to visit British Columbia, were given.

why

Libby's is extra-easy-to-digest

If you could compare Libby's Baby Foods under a microscope, you would see why Libby's are extra-easy-to-digest. Even after careful straining, much of the food value of fruits and vegetables is encased in closed cells. Libby's undeveloped digestive juices have a hard time penetrating these, and baby's food is often incompletely digested, causing upsets.

But in Libby's Baby Foods these cells are exploded open by Libby's exclusive homogenization process. The nourishment is already released so baby's digestive juices can readily mix with it. Tests show that baby can digest Libby's Foods more completely in 30 minutes than foods which are strained but not homogenized in two hours.

Union To Ask City To Check Loads Of Wood, Coal

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night heard charges that some Victoria householders were being cheated on wood and coal deliveries.

Several delegates reported that short weight loads of fuel were prevalent in the city. The labor council will ask the City Council to take some action.

In a move designed to assist the Canadian shipbuilding and ship repair industry the labor council will urge the federal government to impose a tariff on ships of Canadian registry built or repaired outside of Canada.

The council will also suggest that the Canadian National Railways consider entering the B.C. coastal trade in competition with the C.P.R. service between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle.

Canada will be asked to retard immigration until the employment situation shows improvement. This was decided following a report by Charles Chivers on the largest unemployment statistics for the nation.

HOLIDAY BENEFITS

Institution of a stamp system to provide holiday benefits for workmen will be asked of the provincial government by the council.

The council also went on record opposing the suggestion that unemployed workers be put in uniforms and stationed at the employment office to do odd jobs at residences.

G. A. Wilkinson, secretary, reported that excellent progress had been made at a meeting with George Barclay, director of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and C. A. Mudge, local commission manager, on several problems affecting workers in this area which had recently arisen.

Credentials naming L. Bergstrom, V. C. Edwards, G. Ball and W. Antrobus as delegates for the Naval Dockyard Fire Fighters were read.

Annual First Aid Competitions To Be Held In Armories

Bay Street Armories has again been chosen as the scene of the Victoria St. John Ambulance Brigades' first aid field day competitions.

The contests will be held June 5, starting at 1.15 p.m. This will be the seventh year of the tournament.

Nine trophies will be competed for by teams entering.

Nursing cadets, girls under 14, will compete for the C. E. M. Pemberton Cup, while junior girls, from 14 to 16, will vie for possession of the Francis Cup.

Junior boys, under 16, will compete for the John Strood Memorial Cup.

Novice men, who have not previously won senior competitions, will try for the Little & Taylor Cup, while novice women will compete for the Dick's Dress Shop Rose Bowl.

The Victoria Daily Times Cup and Ray's Limited Cup will be sought by the senior women's teams. The Victoria Daily Colonist Cup and the B.C. Electric Railway Cup will be the prizes for the best senior men's teams.

Each team will consist of five first aiders, one of which may be an instructor. Contestants must hold St. John Ambulance Association certificates.

Any qualified group, wishing to participate in the contests, should forward the team name and the names of those in the team, together with the class it intends to enter, to William Fulton, 715 View Street, before May 31.

Annual banquet of the St. John Ambulance Association will be held in the View Street headquarters at 7 p.m., May 27. Rev. William Hills will be guest speaker.

The city beautification committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is appealing to merchants and private citizens to decorate their stores, homes, and cars, to add color to the May festivities.

Up-Islander Claims Success Treating Arthritis Victims

Esquimalt branch of the Canadian Legion has offered the facilities of its Admirals Road hall to Lou Green, Bainbridge Lake of the Alberni district, who claims to be having success in treating arthritis cases, to meet Victoria people afflicted with the painful malady.

In the up-island valley Mr.

Green has received about 100 persons for treatment and states he has to put others on a waiting list until he can find time to handle them, according to a copyright series in the Twin Cities Times, Port Alberni.

It was reported to the Legion branch meeting last night that Mr. Green has received a request from Vancouver to go there and handle a great many cases and a similar Victoria request.

The meeting decided it would offer the hall as a place where Mr. Green can meet the people who wish to try his treatment.

He is slated to come here near the end of May to meet the people who have contacted him.

In addition to a formula and diet, Mr. Green has designed a device to straighten spines and has a valley resident well onto the recovery road now, the article says.

Mr. Green hopes enough interest will be taken in his work to bring about an impartial investigation by competent individuals or organizations.

He is sure he can prove satisfactorily the efficiency of his treatment.

Backward Brains May Now Be Improved With Wheat Extract

Glutamic acid may soon do wonders for Canadian people who are mentally backward.

Let's look at the interesting story of John G. It's an actual medical case history:

At birth, John G. appeared to be a normal child. Shortly after he was one year old, he uttered his first distinguishable "mama." A few months later he was able to stand alone.

But, just after his third birthday, he was stricken with influenza. His mental development slowed almost to a standstill. He practically reverted to babyhood. Although he matured physically, he remained a youngster mentally.

These years that followed showed small improvement. At the age of 26 John G. had the mental age of a child seven and a half!

Then his case came to the attention of a group of medical researchers who had been experimenting with a chemical called glutamic acid. For some time these doctors very cautiously had been testing the effects of the substance on the brain power of animals and humans.

They began giving John G. daily doses of glutamic acid. During the first month, his mental age rose from the original seven and one half years to nine years. After another month and a half of glutamic acid treatment it had risen to nine years and eight months. In just two and a half months, John G's mental age had increased more than two years.

Complete information of this new, wonderful wheat extract is given on page 25 of the May 15 edition of Maclean's Magazine, now on sale at your magazine dealer's.

Maclean's Magazine is distributed on Vancouver Island by Lovick's News Agency, Victoria, B.C.

Bride's of Albion Chapter, I.O.D.E., bingo party tonight at 8, at the home of Mrs. M. Elliott, 1743 Pembroke Street.

Personal
Notes

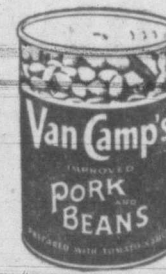

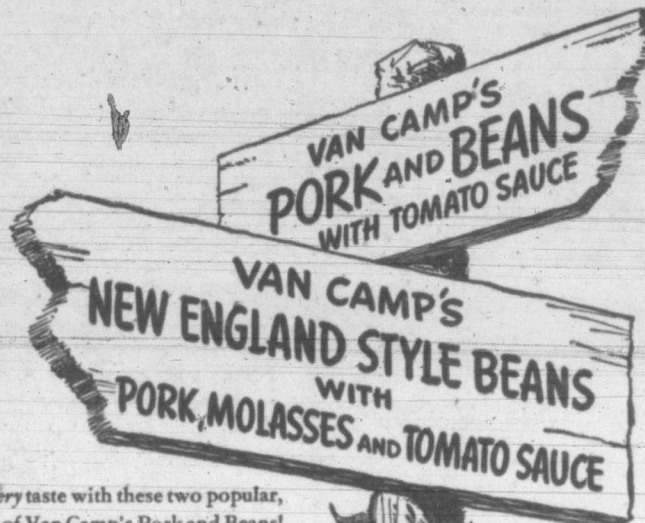

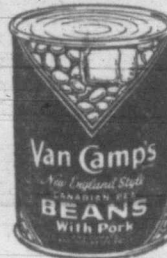

To honor Miss Shirley Morry, who will become Mrs. Samuel Arthur Coulthard on Saturday, Mrs. R. L. Fletcher and her cousin, Mrs. R. Davies, were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of the former, 876 Admirals Road. Gifts were concealed under a mauve and yellow umbrella, and both the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. W. S. Morry, received corsage bouquets. Guests included Mesdames W. Morry Sr., M. Morry, F. Freer, J. Henderson, W. Morry Jr., L. C. Ostler, R. Reid, J. Elder, J. Cathcart, L. Woodhouse, T. Duncan, D. Woodhouse, H. S. Strass, R. Fletcher, R. B. Ostler, M. Campbell, and Peggy Woodhouse.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: I am a married man and I have to get up in the morning and get my own breakfast. If I am late and haven't time to fix it, I have to go to work hungry. I also have to give my wife her breakfast in bed before I leave. Don't you think this is treating me like a dog? A MARRIED MAN.

Answer: Don't come crying to me for sympathy. I have none to waste on a man who has to get up and get his own breakfast, while a husky, able-bodied woman turns over in bed and takes another snooze. It is his own fault if he is henpecked.

So stiffen your backbone, and instead of whining over the way your wife treats you, demand that she get up and get your breakfast. The hand that holds the purse rules the roost, and no man has to put up with laziness in his wife unless he wants to. Mighty few women want to lose their positions as wives, and if they know they have to make good on the job to keep it, they will do it.

Tells Story Of Arena Building In Supporting Bond Issue By-Law

An outline of the history of the construction of Victoria's Arena was given by Ald. E. Williams today in an appeal for the support of ratepayers to a loan by-law being put to a vote next Thursday for completion of the structure.

At the same time the alderman pointed to the fact that the rink is meant as a memorial to the dead in World War II and said:

"It is unthinkable that we leave it unfinished."

The $325,000 which the city plans to borrow under terms of the by-law going before the ratepayers will complete the rink, Ald. Williams said.

A member of the city arena committee since it was formed in 1945, the senior alderman recalled that a citizens' committee "started the ball rolling" in 1944 on construction of an arena to replace the one destroyed by fire at the Willows.

COLLECTED $65,000
The citizens collected $65,000 and the City Council then agreed to raise a further $150,000 by floating a bond issue.

APPROVED PLAN IN 1944
Ratepayers approved this plan on Dec. 14, 1944, 82 per cent voting in favor.

Meanwhile the site was chosen and legislation passed authorizing the closing of Galt Street to allow construction of the rink, and authorizing management of the proposed rink to be undertaken by a commission of five ratepayers or residents of the city not members of the City Council.

It was agreed that the rink be called the Victoria Civic Memorial Arena and the next step was for the city to get permission to go ahead with the project under the War Charities Act of 1939, Ald. Williams said. In order to do this the type of building, costs and other details were required.

The citizens' committee was active in the matter of the building and its design, he continued. The joint committee met frequently to study and make decisions on various plans submitted.

Architects had to be obtained and three finally were employed by 1946. A permit from the Minister of National War Services at Ottawa was received at about the same time and the way was clear for a start on the rink.

Charles T. Hamilton, Vancouver, was chosen consulting engineer in the project to ensure continuity in the progress of construction.

In the meantime the citizens committee had decided in November, 1945, on the monolithic roof structure for the arena and it was agreed that three contracts should be let, one for the foundation and footings, the second for the roof and the third for completion of the work.

The foundation and footings, Ald. Williams continued, took longer than expected to complete... seven months in fact.

The second contract could not be let until the first was completed. It was finally awarded after one contractor refused to post a bond for due performance, and all negotiations with him had to be canceled.

The construction of the roof took longer than the contractor said it would, the company blaming lack of materials and poor labor conditions. It was completed in due course, though, said Ald. Williams, and the committee went to work immediately on drainage.

The drainage work is nearly completed, the alderman added. After careful study, the committee decided that the balance of construction work should be done under the supervision of city officials and not by private contract.

SPLENDID PROGRESS
"This has worked out most satisfactorily. Splendid progress has been made and we are getting exactly what we pay for," the alderman stated.

As for the delay, Mr. Williams continued, the public is aware of the difficulties surmounting all contract work.

"Many people who have started to build homes have found the same conditions as those which have been experienced with the construction of the arena. It is not a special case, the conditions are universal and contractors are bound to

New Charge Following Murder Acquittal

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Henderson, 18, Wednesday night was acquitted of the Feb. 26, 1947, gun-slaying of Vancouver police constable Charles Boyes, but today he was back in custody on a new charge.

The youth, accompanied by his father, left the crowded courtroom only to be arrested minutes later on a charge of being in possession of an offensive weapon. Police declined to reveal origin of the charge.

The 12-man assize court jury deliberated for two hours and 55 minutes, returning to the courtroom twice for reinstruc-tion before returning the verdict.

Basis for the acquittal was the failure of the Crown to establish a mutual design on the part of Harry Medos, Douglas Carter and Henderson to resist arrest by shooting. Carter was shot and killed by police in the subsequent gun-battle, and Medos died on the gallows last Oct. 1 for the murder of officer Boyes. The battle followed a frustrated bank hold-up.

Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker told the jurors that if the plan of the trio to rob a bank was abandoned, as the defence contended, then the only common intent left to them was that of resisting arrest with violence. Evidence showed Henderson had not resisted, but had surrendered his weapon before the shooting began.

The acquitted youth had been reprieved four times since Aug. 27, 1947, when he was sentenced by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson to be hanged. On appeal, he was granted a new trial by the Supreme Court of Canada.

CONTINUAL criticism by sideline knockers has brought about a situation in Victoria sport that is getting serious. Within the period of 12 months two major sports have experienced difficulty locating people willing to hold official positions. First it was the local basketball league and now the softballers have run up against the same problem—only in a more serious way. On three occasions the Greater Victoria Association of Softball Leagues, governing body for the sport in this area, has called a meeting with the object of electing officers and has yet to fill the positions.

IN THE meantime, Ira Hill, only executive officer remaining from last year's board, is carrying on and attempting to hold the association together. He is doing a grand job but he can't be expected to bear the burden for much longer. The duties are just too strenuous and extensive for one individual to attempt. Strange part of it all is that although the association represents 40 teams, with each one being entitled to a delegate, at a meeting held some weeks ago only five people turned up, and at another session this week the attendance was just two greater. That looks like apathy of the worst kind.

TALKING to a number of softball supporters who have held official positions in recent years they tell me it is not just good enough to take a job, do your best and then have to experience the criticism thrown up by outsiders. One team manager went so far as to state that his club actually suffered because he was holding down an executive job. "Result is that the team managers just refuse to have anything to do with the sport in an executive way for fear that their actions will have a detrimental reaction against their clubs," one manager told me.

IN THE meantime a committee has gone ahead with revision of the constitution for the softball association. The entire set-up has been gone over and new ideas incorporated. But, until such time as those interested turn out to a meeting and express their opinion of the changes, nothing further will be done. "We want to get a good cross section of opinion on the new constitution before its adoption," one member of the committee said. "I can just imagine how the clubs would squawk if we went ahead and pushed it through without their being given the opportunity of full discussion. Yet it would serve them for failing to show enough interest and enthusiasm to turn out for one meeting."

Swim Record Breaker

Formerly a member of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club but now one of the Flying "Y" swim circus, Irene Strong this past week assisted the local club in establishing 13 new Canadian records. Miss Strong cracked the 40 and 50-yard breaststroke records and swam a leg on the medley team which lowered the Dominion standard for the 120-yard distance.

Aces Handcuffed By Tiremen's Ken Gunter

They still haven't stopped the winning ways of the powerful Douglas Tire softball squad. Last night the Lackie-coached nine behind the masterful three-hit pitching of Ken Gunter racked up win No. 6 in their undefeated string by turning back Brentwood Aces, 5 to 1, before a good-sized crowd at Central Park.

Big John Furmeston was manager Ron Knott's choice to beat the tiremen last night but the fast-ball hurler ran into control trouble in the sixth and seventh innings and that proved his downfall as the league leaders scored a brace of counters in each frame to salt the game away.

Until the last of the sixth the game was just as tight as any one could wish. Gar Taylor supplied the initial tally for the tiremen by clouting a first-inning home run with the sacks empty. Kelly Slater tied it up for Aces in the first half of the sixth on a line drive four-bagger to centre field.

In the Douglas Tire sixth, Ken Harris opened with a double and scored when Phil Benn threw the ball into right field on Dale's infield tap. Dale moved to second scoring on a single by Evans.

For Quadra School, Robert Dien annexed the only first place with a victory in the senior boys' high jump.

A's Need Help Not Promises From Yankees

Lack Of Power Again Evident As Club Drops Third Straight To Caps

By PETE SALLAWAY

With Victoria Athletics continuing to suffer from lack of power it's about time the parent New York Yankees sent along some much-needed help. That's the opinion of the big percentage of the city's baseball faithful as they look at the latest Western International League standings and see the A's down in seventh spot.

True, the Athletics are only four and a half games back of the pace-setting Tacoma Tigers, but with a little hitting power the team might easily have been up near the top if not in first place.

Lack of a couple of long ball hitters was never more evident than in Vancouver last night when the Athletics dropped their third straight game to the Caplans, 6 to 2. The A's left 14 men stranded on the bases and on two occasions filled the bags but failed to score a run. Such has been the case in previous games.

In dropping their last four games the Athletics have scored only 10 runs, further proof that the team is badly in need of hitters. In last night's game the club got the advantage of 10 walks issued by pitcher Bob Costello yet could only score two runs.

IDLE PROMISES

According to business manager Reg Patterson of the Athletics the Yankees have promised help. We remember they made such promises last season but the assistance failed to materialize. Let's get some action now. If the Yankees cannot send along one or two outfielders capable of hitting the ball let them say so now, then the Athletics can go into the market and see what they can do for themselves.

Victoria is a good baseball town. The Athletics have drawn well over 100,000 for two successive seasons but the fans are not going to stand for another second division club this year. They are not demanding a winner but want nothing less than a first division club.

Athletics were back in town today to open a four-game series against Vancouver at Athletic Park tonight. Manager Ted Norbert will likely start Len Kasperovich in the opener with the hope of getting his club back in the win column.

Last night's game saw the A's move into a 1 to 0 lead in the third inning when Jack Palmer singled home the first run. Vancouver tied it up in the fourth and took the lead on a three-run outburst in the fifth. After Joe Kaney had singled, Frank Mulens hit to Palmer and all hands were safe when shortstop Mike Dalton pulled his foot off the bag on the attempted double play. Jack Warren's single accounted for one run and two more scored on Buddy Hjelm's double to left.

Victoria loaded the bags in the sixth with one away but Del Owens fanned and Charlie Bassi hit into a force out at second to end the threat.

A walk to Charlie Mead, followed by successive doubles by Bill Brenner and Orrin Snyder accounted for Vancouver's final two runs in the seventh.

OWENS LOSER

Del Owens started on the mound for Victoria, but was lifted in the seventh and Joe Blankenship finished out the string. Owens gave up 11 hits and was charged with all six runs, but only three of them were earned.

With three for three Brenner was the offensive star of the night. Babe Jensen with three for five led Victoria at the plate. Brenner's drive toward the top of the league had the Jackets within a game and a half of Tacoma today.

Jimmy Brown's eighth-inning single after Dale Markart's double pushed over the winning run last night as the Jackets dumped Tacoma 4 to 3 for the second night in a row. The win was Brenner's fifth in six starts.

Wet grounds idled Spokane at Salem and Wenatchee at Yakima. Brown's game-winning single at Bremerton broke up a 3 to 3 tie.

Brenner burst forth with four singles and added a Tacoma error to tally all three in the fifth inning. Tacoma came back in the sixth with its own three-run burst with Dick Greco's circuit smash.

Short score follows:

R. H. E.
Tacoma..... 3 9 2
Bremerton..... 4 10 2
Batteries—Venturelli and Rossi; Marshall and Roming.

Salmon Cracks Swim Record By 11 Seconds

Members of the "Y" swimming club who during the past eight days have been taking great delight in shattering existing Canadian swimming records must have been a little annoyed over the week-end when they heard that Vancouver's Ted Willson had bettered the mark for the 400 yard freestyle that Bill Doddridge had eclipsed last Wednesday night.

Last night the club made certain for the time being that the record is going to stay in the city. Coach Archie McKinnon sent big Peter Salmon, his ace and one, if not the best swimmer in Canada, out after the mark.

Salmon didn't let anybody down. He churned up the water at the "Y" pool over the 400-yard route in the new time of 4:37.9, to knock 11.2 seconds off Willson's record. Salmon's record-breaking performance brought to a close the three-night assault on Dominion standards that saw 13 records cracked, 12 of them being new records for the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association.

Three of the "Y's" crack female splashes, Irene Strong, Joan Morgan and Ina Salmon set a new record for the 120-yard medley for senior women with a time of 1 minute and 15 seconds. The old standard was 1:16.2 set by Hamilton in 1941.

On Saturday night at the Crystal Garden the Flying "Y" will go after some additional marks when they compete in the annual Gyró Gala. The meet which is usually held on the 24th has been put ahead to enable swimmers from Seattle to participate.

The Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club junior and juvenile stars will be over for the gala and will compete in the boys' and girls' events.

Large Field Certain For Rich King's Plate Monday

TORONTO (CP)—The annual King's Plate excitement began to mount rapidly today as the weatherman at last got into the spirit of things and historic Woodbine Park's racing strip began looking more like its old sunny self.

With only four days left before the cream of Canadian-bred three-year-olds go to the post Monday for the 89th running of the classic, the question of actual starters and jockeys became a leading topic. A total of 33 are still eligible, including 21 who ran in the twin Plate trials Monday won by the Winnipeg-owned Lord Fairmond and the Toronto-owned All British.

No one could say before Saturday, when the final starting fee is posted, just how big the Plate field would be in 1948. A guess would put it between 16 and 20.

The riders' picture was cleared up a little when it was disclosed that jockey Chris Rogers would have the mount on Ed Short's Coleraine. The colt was ridden by the veteran Frankie Mann in Monday's trial but Rogers had been contracted before Mann decided he would try a comeback.

Another western threat was R. Mitten's Polipat, which was outdistanced in the trials but is expected to do much better over the longer distance of the Plate itself.

The western contingent probably will be solid with Jim Speers of Winnipeg, trying for his first Plate victory with Lord Fairmond. The colt was an impressive winner Monday and will be ridden by none other than Johnny Longden, a native of Taber, Alta., only jockey on the North American continent with a record of 3,000 winners.

Another western threat was R. Mitten's Polipat, which was outdistanced in the trials but is expected to do much better over the longer distance of the Plate itself.

Frank Scroggs Blanks Boosters

With Frank Scroggs setting down Boosters with a neat six-hitter for the first shutout of the year, Ben's Bombers last night defeated Boosters, 8 to 0, to take over top place in the Senior Amateur Baseball League.

Bombers now hold a half-game edge over Eagles and Navy who are tied for second place. Boosters have yet to win a game losing their first three starts.

Tomorrow night the league swings back into action at Colville Road with Pitzer and Nex meeting Navy at 7.

In last night's game Bombers opened the scoring in the first inning with a singleton. They added one more in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in each of the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth frames.

Art Worth worked on the hill for the losers and gave up a total of 10 hits. Thompson and Ross of the Bombers each got two hits with Harford of Boosters also connecting for a pair of safeties.

Short score follows:

Auchinvole Hurls, Bats Bays To Win

Backed by some smart fielding on the part of his mates, Bruce Auchinvole, regular third sacker for Jack Wallace's Oak Bay nine in the interhigh baseball league, hurled his squad to an easy 14 to 3 victory over Mount Douglas High yesterday. It was Bays' second win against a single loss.

Auchinvole limited Saanichites to three bingles, took 10 on strikes, and passed only two for a fine mound start. In addition, he clouted two doubles in four trips, driving in four runs. Den McGee, Wally Malcolm and Evans shared the pitching chores for Mount Douglas.

Short score follows: R. H. E. Oak Bay..... 14 10 2 Mount Douglas..... 3 3 5 Batteries—Auchinvole and Woolcock; Den McGee, Malcolm (4), Evans (5) and Cummer.

BASEBALL FIGURE DIES

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Bruce Elias, 71, president of the Elias Baseball Bureau, died Wednesday night.

Elias and his brother, the late Al Munro Elias, formed the baseball statistical service 36 years ago. The bureau has handled the official National League statistics for 34 years. It originated the idea of publishing the five leading hitters in daily newspapers.

Feller In Fifth Win To Rout Philadelphia

Bobby Feller and his Cleveland Indians have cooled off Connie Mack's Athletics and wrested the actual American League lead from Philadelphia.

By a mathematical freak, the Indians slipped into first place Tuesday night when they actually trailed the A's by half a game. No longer is there any freak about it. Feller took care of that.

The fireballing right-hander, only American Leaguer to win 20 games last season, hung up his fifth victory last night by trimming Philadelphia 6 to 1, with three hits.

Feller's brilliant pitching permitted the Tribe to sweep the series from the A's, who came into town on a red-hot spree after sweeping a doubleheader from New York Yankees.

Hal Newhouser got back on the victory path, after having been knocked out five straight times, when he hurled Detroit to a 4 to 1 decision over Boston yesterday. Vic Wertz broke up a 1 to 1 game when he homered off Ellis Kinder with two on in the last of the ninth. Pat Mullin's homer in the fourth accounted for the other run.

The Yankees yesterday finally got a route-going job from lefty Ed Lopat. Lopat allowed 12 hits in taking an 8 to 4 verdict over St. Louis Browns. Yogi Berra's double with the bases loaded snapped a 4 to 4 tie in the seventh.

Pitcher Early Wynn helped Washington out of trouble with his bag. Coming in as a pinch hitter, he singled home two runs that started the Senators to a 4 to 1 nod over Chicago White Sox.

At Ebbets Field St. Louis Cardinals thumped Brooklyn, 14 to 7, in a night game. Clyde King, who replaced starter Rex Barney, caught the loss and the nod went to Ted Wilks, the third Card chucker. Stan Musial of the Cards had a perfect night with five hits, including a triple and double.

Philadelphia Phils came from behind to shade Chicago Cubs,

Joe Louis Studies Film Of Last Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Joe Louis says he's going to get ready for his return bout, June 23, with Jersey Joe Walcott by taking in the movies.

But they're not just ordinary movies. They're scenes of that first scrap back in December when Jersey Joe banged the champ to the canvas twice before dropping a disputed split decision.

He wants to look over his mistakes and be sure not to make them again at Yankee Stadium June 23.

Flurry Of Home Run Clouting In Coast League Ball

Some folks, not furriers, are claiming there's enough rabbit in the Coast League baseball to make a Lapin wrap for m'lady.

But it's belts, not pelts, the home-run sluggers are picking up—and frankly, business has never been better.

Nick Etten slammed a pair—No. 7 and 8—to pace Oakland to an 8 to 0 win over league-leading San Francisco last night. Holtywood's Gus Zernial hit two for the second straight night, his 10th and 11th, but the Stars lost, 8 to 3, to San Diego. Dom Dallessandro socked his 9th to lead Los Angeles to a 12 to 3 triumph over Seattle.

There were no boundary belts at Portland; no game-wet grounds.

Mel Duzabou also contributed a circuit clout to the Oaks' victory as Earl Jones checked the Seals with seven hits and fanned seven. The Acorns sewed it up early, routing Cliff Melton with four runs in the first and following with three in the next frame off Manny Perez.

Los Angeles picked up a game, moving to four games behind San Francisco. The Angels pounded Johnny Gorschica for all 12 runs, including eight in the sixth inning when two Seattle errors gave the winners six unearned tallies.

Tom Haffey, cast off by the Oaks last week, made his first Angel start a winning one. He checked the Rainiers with seven hits including a homer by Earl Rapp. Dallessandro had a single and double besides his four-ply swat and drove in four runs.

Anglers Praying For Good Holiday Weather; Trout Best, Salmon Scarce

By ROY THORSEN

If the warm sunny weather holds (and there are a lot of fingers crossed) this coming holiday week-end should see a record number of fresh and saltwater fishermen out to try their luck with a plentiful offering of trout, but so far, a scanty offering of salmon.

The trout reports from lower island lakes, rivers and streams are good... they offer the holiday fishers promise of good sport with fly and on the troll... these include Shawnigan, Douglas, Wolf, Prospect, possibly Cowichan, and other lakes, Cowichan River featuring the river list.

About the salmon picture: From reports there is nothing to shout about. In Saanich Inlet there is evidence of a fair number of fish from the less weighty jacks to the small spring class, but few of them have been taken in the last few days.

A 17½-pounder by Mr. and Mrs. George Williams at the Goldstream end Sunday featured the week's catches to date. They used eight ounces of weight and a No. 7 brass wonder-spoon. H. Cowderoy and friend wound up with a quartette of jacks in front of the Stone House. A friend out with Dick Bosence took a 12½-pounder Sunday.

Maybe there is some hope for improvement here in the fact that West Vancouver waters are producing catches of specimens up to 24 pounds.

The 1948 salmon-fishing season hereabouts is a month late now.

The defending champion, Mrs. Art Dowell or Mrs. H. T. Matson, this year's medalist, will meet either one of the golfing Todds in the finals of the city women's amateur golf tourney at the Gorge Vale Club tomorrow.

In yesterday's championship flight quarter-final round Mrs. Dowell was forced to the 19th hole before eliminating Isabel Jarvis of the home club. Mrs. Matson moved through her bracket with a 5 and 4 win over Mrs. E. Livingstone.

B.C. champion Mrs. Margaret Todd defeated Miss F. E. Paynter 5 and 4 to qualify for the semi-final round against her sister-in-law, Mrs. Marjorie Todd-Finney in today's play. Mrs. Todd-Finney eliminated Miss Mary Young yesterday by a 5 and 4 score.

Coaltown Shatters Record In Taking Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP)—Coaltown took over the winning chores for Calumet Farm Wednesday while his stablemate Citation remained in the barn, and blazed to a stake record in the aptly-named Swift Stakes at Belmont Park. Heavy show wagering on the Coaltown flash resulted in a minus pool for the track.

Sizzling over the seven-furlong route in 1:23 2-5, Coaltown cracked two-fifths of a second off the mark set by Mantagna in 1935.

The star No. 2 colt in the Calumet string was making his first start since he ran second behind Citation in the Kentucky Derby May 1, as he skipped under the wire an easy six lengths ahead of his chief rival, Ben Whitaker's My Request. William Helt's Salmagundi closed fast to annex third by a head over Alfred Vanderbilt's Newsweek.

With the field reduced to six when four other three-year-olds scratched, Coaltown and jockey Leroy Pleson won just about as they pleased.

Coaltown paid his supporters only $2.20, $2.10 and $2.10 for $2.

GET RELIEF FROM PILES This Amazingly Easy Way

I can help most pile sufferers. I believe I can help you too if you want relief from the itching soreness and burning pain of piles.

My Hem-Roid treatment is different. Hem-Roid is an internal medicine—a small tablet taken with a glass of water. It corrects the conditions INSIDE your body that cause you such intense pile soreness.

Best I'll be honest with you, Hem-Roid seems to help some pile sufferers more than others as it tends to protect those who are not satisfied. I refuse to ask people to pay for something that does not help them as much as they expect it to. If Hem-Roid helps you, surely it is worth the small cost. Otherwise I want you to have your money back. I'll take your word. I find people are honest about such things.

All I ask is you use Hem-Roid as directed for 10 days. Then if you are not satisfied return what you did not use and get your money back. This is an unusual offer but Hem-Roid is an unusual medicine. It has been sold on a refund promise for over 40 years. I am not asked to make many refunds so it must help most folks who use it. At all drug stores.

Ham, Bacon Drop; Expect Price Line To Hold On Tinned Goods

While smoked meats, hams and bacon dropped from 3 to 7 cents on the pound in one large Victoria store this morning, as a result of the lifting of the 8 per cent Dominion sales tax, the over-all effect on tinned goods is expected to hold the present price line but not bring any general drop in prices.

According to one meat retailer today prices on smoked meats dropped 5 to 6 cents on the pound and hams and bacon 3 to 7 cents on the pound.

"Since all manufacturers' commitments with regard to purchase of produce for canning have been made and at greater cost than last year, the effect of the dropping of the sales tax may be merely to keep the price the same as last year," one large wholesaler said today.

"I believe dropping the sales tax will serve to hold the price line, but I do not think we can look for any general decrease in the price of canned goods."

Retailers and wholesalers paid taxes on the items concerned and consequently will not drop the price unless it is necessitated by competitive competition, one wholesaler said.

One of the first items to take a drop is a popular brand of soup which went down half a cent a tin. New pack jams which will be available soon are expected to drop from 5 to 7 cents on the 4-pound tin. Canned salmon coming on the market in the fall will be down 2½ cents on the small tin.

Tinned peaches may drop 1 cent on the tin, dependent, however, on whether costs of other materials in manufacturing increased. The same applies to tinned peas.

Biscuits will drop up to 3 cents on the pound almost immediately, and biscuit mixes from 2 to 3 cents on the package, one wholesaler said.

There is no drop anticipated in the price of breakfast foods which are packaged in the east since the price was not put up when the freight rates were increased, the wholesaler said.

Penticton Man To Be New Chancellor Of Pythian Knights

J. G. Bowering, who for the past year has served as grand vice-chancellor of the Knights of Pythias' Grand Lodge of British Columbia, was elected grand chancellor by delegates to the K. of P. provincial conference in Victoria today.

Mr. Bowering, from Penticton, succeeds Ray Topliss of Victoria, who now becomes immediate past grand chancellor.

H. Simpson, grand prelate during the past year, was elected to fill the position of grand vice-chancellor. Mr. Simpson is from Trail.

Re-elected to office were F. G. Harding, Vancouver, grand secretary, and J. Burton-Slough, Vancouver, grand treasurer.

H. R. Brown, Victoria, was elected grand prelate. W. Lorne Irvine, Vernon, was named grand master-at-arms; Mark Beduz, Kimberley, became grand inner guard and James Bell, Vancouver, was chosen as grand outer guard.

Gordon Robinson, Victoria, and J. Scott-Baxter, Vancouver, were re-elected supreme representatives.

The new executive was installed this afternoon by Jack McKim, past grand chancellor.

The convention, the 47th to be held, will be brought to a conclusion tonight in the Crystal Garden when the provincial finals of a K. of P. public speaking contest for students is held. The contest will start at 8 and the public has been invited to attend.

Students Display Work At Schools

Doors of Greater Victoria schools were opened to the public Wednesday when home economics and industrial arts students displayed the results of their year-long toil.

Parents and friends turned out in large numbers for the open house and saw students at work as well as the exhibitions of handicraft.

Vocational work was shown at Mount View annex, Central Junior High School, Victoria High annex, Lampson Street School for Esquimalt High School students, and at the old Oak Bay High School for students of the municipality.

The display was held throughout the afternoon and evening.

Practical woodworking achievements, engineering and electrical work, drafting, building trades work and the varied activities of home economics courses were in the show cases.

Gives Alibi For Being Seen Near Engineering Shop

Defense counsel Joseph McKenna completed his case today in the Assize Court on behalf of Jack Kane, charged with breaking and entering the United Engineering Ltd., 575 Pembroke Street, with intent to steal. Robert J. Carlow, who is not represented by counsel, is also facing a similar charge.

Kane, who testified on his own behalf, claimed that on the night of the attempted theft he took a walk with his girl friend towards the engineering shop. On their way back, he said, he was picked up by police.

Prior to being taken into custody by police, Kane said he ate at a downtown restaurant. Francis McAllister corroborated his evidence.

Mr. McKenna began his address to the jury at noon today, claiming the Crown had failed to connect his client with the attempted theft. Police had assumed, he said, that Kane was connected with breaking and entering the premises because he had been seen near the shop.

The Crown has yet to address the jury before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane begins his charge. A verdict is expected late today.

Cavadas has also pleaded not guilty to the hotel charge, has not yet elected or entered pleas on the conspiracy to defraud counts.

Salvationists Raise $12,000 Towards $20,000 Objective

Major C. J. Milley, Salvation Army Public Relations Officer, reports to date $12,000 has been received toward the 1948 objective of $20,000 of the Red Shield campaign. It is hoped that the amount asked for will be exceeded as the Salvation Army is most anxious to complete plans for the establishment of work among elderly people in the Greater Victoria area and any amount over the objective will be used for this purpose.

All divisions of the campaign are reporting daily, however, some sections have not the full personnel for a thorough canvass so a special appeal is made at this time to all wishing to donate to the Salvation Army to send or bring donations to the Red Shield Appeal headquarters, Prince Robert House, 212 Douglas Street. Esquimalt Liberals Re-elect Morrow For Third Term

The Esquimalt District Liberal Association Wednesday night re-elected Stanley Morrow, View Royal, as president for a third consecutive term.

T. T. Pullan, Metchosisin, was re-elected secretary-treasurer and thus he will round out 25 years' service with the Liberal organization in British Columbia.

First vice-president of the association is G. H. Battling of Colwood. Clifford Kirkham was named second vice-president and Forbes Callan was named to serve a second term as auditor.

The annual meeting held in Colwood Hall heard Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria M.L.A., review the highlights of the recently completed session of the Provincial Legislature.

Answering several members who had criticized the 3 per cent retail sales tax which the Provincial government will levy shortly under legislation passed at the last session, Mrs. Hodges said the tax was necessary to implement the Coalition administration program for social security.

"It bears most heavily on those who can afford to pay," said the woman lawmaker, noting that it had been estimated industry of the province would contribute 65 per cent of the total sum raised by the new tax.

Mrs. Hodges said the province hopes to raise $12,000,000 annually through the sales tax and one-third of this sum would be granted to municipalities of the province.

Referring to the government's compulsory hospital insurance scheme, Mrs. Hodges said it was something which the people had been looking for for a long time.

"It will make a big difference to the people of the province," she said.

Joseph Carpenter, 1426 Harrison Street, was sent to hospital with a bruised right leg and knee Wednesday when the motorcycle he was riding was in collision with a car driven by Thomas Bailey, 1978 Forester Street, at Broughton and Quadra Streets. He was taken to Jubilee Hospital by police.

T. T. Pullan, Metchosisin, was re-elected secretary-treasurer and thus he will round out 25 years' service with the Liberal organization in British Columbia.

First vice-president of the association is G. H. Battling of Colwood. Clifford Kirkham was named second vice-president and Forbes Callan was named to serve a second term as auditor.

The annual meeting held in Colwood Hall heard Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria M.L.A., review the highlights of the recently completed session of the Provincial Legislature.

Answering several members who had criticized the 3 per cent retail sales tax which the Provincial government will levy shortly under legislation passed at the last session, Mrs. Hodges said the tax was necessary to implement the Coalition administration program for social security.

"It bears most heavily on those who can afford to pay," said the woman lawmaker, noting that it had been estimated industry of the province would contribute 65 per cent of the total sum raised by the new tax.

Mrs. Hodges said the province hopes to raise $12,000,000 annually through the sales tax and one-third of this sum would be granted to municipalities of the province.

Referring to the government's compulsory hospital insurance scheme, Mrs. Hodges said it was something which the people had been looking for for a long time.

"It will make a big difference to the people of the province," she said.

Joseph Carpenter, 1426 Harrison Street, was sent to hospital with a bruised right leg and knee Wednesday when the motorcycle he was riding was in collision with a car driven by Thomas Bailey, 1978 Forester Street, at Broughton and Quadra Streets. He was taken to Jubilee Hospital by police.

Sprinkler System Puts Out Mill Fire

The sprinkler system, regarded by fire departments as the finest answer to combat mill fires, went into action at the Crowe-Gonnason Co. Ltd. mill at 2324 Government Street last evening and greatly aided in putting out a fire which started in sawdust.

Fire Chief R. T. Brindle believes a spark from a burner was responsible. Heat resulted in the automatic sprinkler system going into action. The chief said 28 heads spouted water, many a considerable distance from the fire itself, but reacting to the heat of the blaze. Damage was not extensive.

Government Spent $283,000,000 On Housing; Rejects Low Rent Subsidies

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's record on housing, including expenditures totaling $283,000,000 since 1942 and another $75,000,000 this year, was placed before the Commons Wednesday by Trade Minister Howe.

He rejected a C.C.F. proposal that the Dominion embark on a program of subsidized housing and said this assistance would result in no more houses being built than at present. The main difficulty of subsidized housing was that of allocation.

Mr. Howe spoke on a C.C.F. amendment calling on the government to consider a subsidized, low-rental housing scheme. The motion, appended to the motion for second reading of a bill setting up a rental-insurance plan for builders, will be dealt with later. It was moved by A. M. Nicholson, C.C.F., Mackenzie, Sask.

OUT OF ORDER

The Progressive Conservative Party withheld support from the C.C.F. motion and moved one of its own, only to have it later ruled out of order on procedural grounds. It sought Dominion-provincial-municipal co-operation in setting up local housing authorities to provide low-rental homes and undertake slum clearance.

Mr. Howe said there can be no close co-operation with the provinces and the municipalities as long as they ask the Dominion to supply most of the money, with no strings attached. The Dominion should have some say in how public money was spent.

He said the C.C.F. had talked much about subsidized housing, but had done little in Saskatchewan, where a C.C.F. government is in power, to show how the subsidies would work.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the government's legislation was "entirely inadequate" and would not meet the needs of the people for more accommodation. Thousands across the country were living in homes "unfit" for Canadians and in conditions that led to juvenile delinquency.

He said the proposed legislation would provide no houses but only protect the insurance companies. Eighty-two per cent of the people could not afford high rents.

HOUSES FOR ALL

John H. Blackmore, S.C., Lethbridge, Alta., said the government should see to it that everyone is given at least the opportunity to own his own home. He suggested the Dominion and provinces establish a Dominion-wide agency to handle housing.

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, said Mr. Howe had once stated that no Canadian could be satisfied until a steady flow of low-rent housing units was available. J. E. Matthews, Lib., Brandon, Man., said New Zealand had a subsidized housing, yet the rate of construction there was lower than in Canada.

Lake Cowichan Asks Attorney-General For Liquor Store

LAKE COWICHAN—Representation will be made to the Attorney-General's department on the need for a liquor store at Lake Cowichan, Lake Cowichan Chamber of Commerce decided at a meeting here.

Members discussed the situation at length stating that following various communications with the Liquor Control Board, a member of the board visited Lake Cowichan to view various sites. None of the sites met with his approval, according to the chamber, and no definite answer had been forthcoming.

The meeting passed a resolution that the Attorney-General be advised of the situation and that all clubs in the district interested in the matter be asked to endorse the resolution.

Chamber members said with the nearest liquor store at Duncan one situated at Lake Cowichan would serve not only Lake Cowichan but Youbou, Honey-moon Bay and Mesachie Lake as well as a number of the outlying logging settlements.

G. M. Hewlett was elected president; Bryce McCrick, vice-president; and Mrs. T. R. Paul, secretary for the ensuing year. Executive committee members are: H. A. Dransy, Edward Havens, H. E. Smith, Walter Tiesu, T. R. Pauls, William F. Grossideg, George Boyd and Jim Maitland. Mr. Boyd was appointed publicity chairman to replace Mr. Hewlett.

Youbou Fire Deaths Held Accidental

DUNCAN—A coroner's jury investigating the deaths of Joseph Wozniak, 43, and Roger Gouin, 24, Vancouver, in the fire which swept one wing of a bunkhouse at Youbou, May 8, brought in a verdict of accidental death.

Mike Jandura, another fire victim, testified from his hospital bed that Wozniak, who was his room-mate, was in the building at the time of the fire. The jury visited King's Daughters Hospital to hear Mr. Jandura's testimony. Asphyxiation and burns caused the death of Gouin, a Quebec logger, who was married only four months before the fire. The jury found Wozniak died as the result of burns.

Power Commission Offer To Courtenay

COURTENAY—A decision must be reached by city council before June 6 on the offer of the British Columbia Power Commission to purchase the City of Courtenay electrical distribution system, including street lighting equipment.

The offer includes 20 annual payments of $18,000 to the city, with the payments $2,000 less than the figure proposed by the city to the commission in March.

The purchase would be made April 1, 1949, subject to the assent of the electors and to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. An interim agreement must be entered into between the city council and the power commission on or before June 6.

Elderly Couple Lose All In Fire

The house was destroyed and the couple lost all their personal belongings.

No Further Depreciation Seen For Canadian Government Bonds

By CANADIAN PRESS

Holders of government bonds who have seen their prices drop twice this year, will find indication in Finance Minister Abbott's budget speech that no action is planned which would cause any further fall—certainly not any serious fall.

The prices were allowed to decline through the Bank of Canada reducing the level at which it would buy. This lowered the floor under government issues which the bank provides. The action, in effect, increased interest rates to borrowers and to that extent was regarded as a slight counteraction to inflation.

It would appear, however, that the minister does not include further action of this kind in his anti-inflation program. He commented in part:

"Analysis of the demand side of the market leads me to the conclusion that no reasonable increase in interest rates is likely to affect materially the action of the industrial borrower.

"In that field demand is so intense that it would take a really substantial change in interest rates to dampen his enthusiasm and make him defer his capital projects. But a rise in rates sufficient to produce these results would cause such a fall in the prices of bonds and such chaotic conditions that I doubt whether any responsible person would recommend it as a deliberate policy."

MARKET TRENDS

Stock markets Wednesday steadied but couldn't be said to have resumed their advance, although the Associated Press 60-stock average in New York managed to end the day with a 1 gain to 70.5. Prices fluctuated throughout the day. Opinion seems to be that there are buyers for the long haul in the market, but that there still is plenty of selling to be absorbed and a period of adjustment may ensue.

In Toronto western oils made the best showing, gaining almost a point in the index, and base metals also were up. Industrials and goods also held their own. Prices were mixed in Montreal, with papers and industrials firming slightly.

In Winnipeg May rye advanced the 2-cent limit to $4.77B and the July future the 10-cent limit to $3.66B; without either attracting any offerings. Active shipper demand took care of liberal offerings of oats and barley, to send them ahead. In Chicago wheat was up, but corn declined after a good gain, and oats were mixed.

New York cotton futures were 40 cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower.

Troops Take Over Plant In Iowa After Union Picket Fatally Shot

WATERLOO, Ia. (AP)—Iowa National Guard units early today took over the strikebound Rath packing plant area, scene of rioting Wednesday night, following the fatal shooting of a United Packinghouse Workers (C.I.O.) union picket.

A contingent of about 500 guardsmen moved into the plant area with bayonets fixed. They cleared the area of the plant in accord with a court injunction issued Wednesday. Their first act was to drive off at bayonet point about 50 pickets who had gathered outside the plant's main gate.

The pickets retreated slowly before the steadily-advancing guardsmen and shouted jibes, but offered no resistance. The injunction allows only five pickets at each gate and provides that other strikers may not congregate within 500 feet of the plant. It also prohibits use of loud-speakers by strike leaders.

Road blocks were set up on all streets leading to the plant. Half tracks and jeeps patrolled the area. No more than two men were allowed to move around the plant area together.

The picket killed Wednesday night was William J. Farrell, 40. A woman striker was wounded in the shoulder apparently by the bullet which killed Farrell.

The union is striking for higher wages.

BY FATHER OF NINE

County Attorney Blair Wood said the shot was fired by Fred Lee Roberts, 55, a negro. Roberts, father of nine children, will be charged with murder.

Wood said Roberts told him he tried to shoot into the ground to "scare off pickets who were threatening to turn my car over and who were yelling 'kill the jig'."

In the wake of the shooting a plant fence was torn down, nearly 30 cars of non-striking Rath workers were upset on a parking lot, and rocks were hurled through windows of the overturned vehicles.

Gardiner Predicts Rail Differential Will End Soon

VANCOUVER (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner Thursday night entered the Vancouver Centre by-election campaign in support of Liberal candidate R. O. Campbell by predicting the Liberal government would end the mountain differential on Canadian freight rates.

"If it is going to be removed, it will be removed by a Liberal government," he said. "I will even go so far as to say it will be removed by the present Liberal government."

Mr. Gardiner charged the C.C.F. in western Canada is campaigning for lower freight rates while the C.C.F. in Ontario is saying the recent 21 per cent increase should have been even greater.

All discrimination and inequality in freight rates should be removed, said the speaker.

"Instead of three freight rate structures, we should have one freight rate structure that deals with all parts alike."

Striking back at the Progressive Conservative criticism of housing and the cost of living structure, the federal minister said:

"We are not apologizing. In the field of housing, the Canadian government has done better than any other nation in the world."

There was no country north of the equator in America or Europe with as low a living cost as Canada.

Polling in Vancouver Centre is set for June 8.

The DOCTOR Says:

FINDING CAUSE IS FIRST STEP IN HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE CASES

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

High blood pressure, or hypertension, is not caused by a single disease. The most important problem is to decide if possible what is the particular cause in each individual case and what can be done about it. In many cases, unfortunately, the origin of the high blood pressure is not known or cannot be treated.

Even for such kinds of hypertension some recent developments in treatment offer promise for at least some patients. For example, some patients have been given a diet from which not only the sodium contained in salt is removed but most of the sodium in other foods. Table salt, incidentally, is sodium chloride, but the sodium part can appear in other combinations.

The low sodium diet is rather complicated to prepare and probably not so tasty, but good results in bringing about a drop in blood pressure have been reported. This treatment certainly will not answer the entire question of hypertension, but at least the use of "low salt, low sodium" diets in certain cases is interesting. The so-called rice diet is one of these low-sodium diets.

CUTTING NERVES HELPFUL

The use of tissue extracts is another promising line of attack. An operation called sympathectomy, in which certain nerves in the back near the spine are cut has also been used. After these nerves are severed the blood vessels expand and are able to carry more blood and the blood pressure is lowered. This form of treatment has now been in use for selected patients for a good many years and seems to be of real value. It is not suitable for all patients with hypertension.

Until such time as the cause or causes of hypertension are better understood and can be mastered at the source, these newer methods must be considered of value for selected patients only.

Question:—What is neurasthenia and is there a cure?

Answer: Neurasthenia is a name given to a condition practically the same as nervous exhaustion. The cure depends on the seriousness of the case and what the causes are.

Margaret O'Brien In Stirring Role

All the warmth, tenderness and remarkable acting talent which have made Margaret O'Brien one of the screen's greatest box-office champions are enveloped in her latest role as little Flavia Mills, heroine of "Tenth Avenue Angel," M-G-M offering on view at the Dominion Theatre Friday.

Little Flavia looks at her commonplace neighborhood through rose-colored glasses. She finds happiness in a thousand ordinary things, and is encouraged in her imagination and search for beauty by her sensitive mother and father. Her favorite grown-up friends are Luke, former taxi-driver who has served a jail sentence, and Susan, his girl, who doesn't share Flavia's enthusiasm for Tenth Avenue.

Sensational Novel Showing At Atlas

"Gentleman's Agreement," the sensational best-selling novel by Laura Z. Hobson, comes to the screen of the Atlas Theatre today.

In Darryl F. Zanuck's eagerly-awaited production which stars Gregory Peck, Dorothy McGuire and John Garfield with an outstanding supporting cast. The Twentieth Century-Fox film was directed by Elia Kazan of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and "Boomerang" fame. Noted Broadway stage playwright Moss Hart wrote the script which is his first for the motion picture screen.

Crescent Wins 'Cock Of The Fleet'

Symbol of top competitive laurels within the fleet, the gaily-colored, three-foot "Cock of the Fleet" perched proudly atop the mast of the destroyer Crescent when she steamed out of Esquimalt Harbor to begin a series of summer training cruises with naval reservists from western Canada. The destroyer's crew won the right to display the highly-prized "cock" during fleet spring exercises. Shown with the wooden rooster are CPO. G. V. Haegen, D.S.M., Yorkton, Sask., and PO. R. James, Victoria.

Espionage Story On Capitol Screen

In "The Iron Curtain," the sensational story of modern espionage and international intrigue, which opens today at the Capitol Theatre, Twentieth Century-Fox has taken another step forward in the battle of realism vs. hokum — a revolutionary step that finds its expression in Gene Tierney's wardrobe in the film. Gene, playing the wife of Dana Andrews, who portrays a government code clerk, wears a wardrobe any girl could pick up for less than $300, a marked contrast to the extra-lavish one she sported in "Laura." Director William A. Wellman insisted on keeping her clothes in accord with her movie husband's salary.

Dishwashing Chore Fell To Film Star

Although Richard Haydn was happy to play the role of the stuffy Horatio Willing in Twentieth Century-Fox's screen adaptation of "The Late George Apley," which opens today at the York Theatre, he isn't too pleased with the work it entailed. Each afternoon, he had to wash the tea service that the entire cast used. Ronald Colman and Peggy Cummins had suggested that tea be served every afternoon. Miss Best, Charles Russell and about 10 others of the players in the cast agreed it was a good idea. Miss Best offered to supply cake each day and the rest of the cast offered to take turns bringing in the lemon, sugar and tea. Haydn kiddingly added, "There doesn't seem to be anything left for me to do."
"Oh, yes there is," Miss Best answered. "You can contribute your services by washing the dishes."

ODEON THEATRE
The sets used for "The White Unicorn" are many and varied, and represent a triumph of achievement — particularly in view of the fact that Nettiefold Studio, Walton-on-Thames, where the film was produced, have only two stages (one large and one small) and it was difficult to erect many sets at one time. On one occasion art director Norman Arnold achieved almost the impossible, making five sets go into one stage. "The White Unicorn," now at the Odeon Theatre, stars Margaret Lockwood and Dennis Price.
